VB remains firm on 'sewer deal'

Van Buren Township officials are willing to face the ire of their fellow members of the Downriver Sewage Disposal System to win their point on "ownership" of the downriver system's sanitary sewer treatment capacity.

The Van Buren Township Board is the last community standing in the way of an agreement between the Wayne County Road Commission (WCRC) and the City of Riverview to sell that community a capacity in the downriver system, operated by the WCRC for the 14 communities which put up the funds to construct the sewage treatment facilities.

Van Buren Township Supervisor G. Elton Gollwitzer said he is merely carrying out the orders of the township board when he refuses to sign an agreement on behalf of the township to permit Riverview to enter into the downriver system, even though he is being pressured by the WCRC and the state, through Riverview officials.

"We're fighting for the principal of ownership of the sewage disposal system," Gollwitzer said. "When the downriver system was constructed years ago, Van Buren as well as the other communities, was given a certain capacity in terms of cubic feet per second of waste we can put into the plant for treatment.

"But since that time, the ability of the plant to treat sewage has been increased 35 percent through increased construction, and we're finding that we own no part of that 35 percent in the eyes of the road commission, even though our money was used to finance construction."

Gollwitzer added that he believes

'We're fighting for the principle...'

the community's original allotment of sewage treatment in the plant should be increased by the 35 percent figure "since it was the money of Van Buren and the other 13 communities involved in the construction of the system, which was used to expand it."

"We maintain that by funding the system with sewer funds collected in our community, we're purchasing that portion of the system which our funds helped build—not a set capacity as was determined years ago," he continued.

However, the WCRC maintains that the "extra" capacity of the system is the road commission's to disperse, providing communities involved in the system agree with the dispersal.

Summer fun

Whether it's used for sunning, deep diving or simply swimming, the weekly outing for youngsters in the Romulus Recreation Department's summer program at the Lower Huron Metropark's pools proved to be a success. With virtually no public swimming facilities in the community, the youngsters in

Thrift Shop will stage annual service, picnic

By JIM CARRAVALLAH
Of The Roman Staff

Senior citizens and disabled residents from throughout the area are invited to the fifth annual Helping Hand Thrift Shop Interdenominational Church Service and Picnic.

According to Florence Klein, director of the Thrift Shop, the service and picnic serves as an outlet "for people who never have an opportunity to get out into the community, or to worship as part of a community."

Scheduled for 12 p.m. Aug. 28, the service and picnic will be held at the St. Anthony's Church grounds in Romulus.

"We're not pushing religion here," Mrs. Klein said. "But we are providing an opportunity for those who are less fortunate than us to worship and to mingle with other members of the community."

"If one would prefer to picnic with his neighbors, that's fine with us. But the church opportunity also is there."

According to Mrs. Klein, the interdenominational service "is an emotional affair" at times when persons, who normally are shut off from the mainstream of life because of either an infirmity or for being elderly, "have the opportunity to once again worship with other Christians."

Although Mrs. Klein continues to say she isn't "pushing religion", it is a Christian concern for people that has kept her in the Helping Hand Thrift Shop for better than 11 years.

During that time, the operation has grown from an agency dedicated to tiding those in need past hard times to a comprehensive social services operation which is funded by donations and "the prayers of the community."

"We've just received a $4,500 grant from the Campaign for Human Development—a Catholic Church-funded charity—to help pay the rent," Mrs. Klein said. "That was a welcomed addition to our budget."

"But we're always looking for more help, either in the donation of goods, foodstuffs, money or time by volunteers."

Over the years, the Thrift Shop has changed from the "tiding over" group of a few volunteers who knew where to find clothing and food for the needy, to an agency which works toward "overcoming the problems people encounter".

"We're six or seven months into a vocational education program operated through the Thrift Shop which is geared to provide training for individuals who may need it to improve their status in life," Mrs. Klein said. "Although we're perfectly willing to help the people in

Rotary hopes nature won't dampen picnic

Heavy rains haven't dampened the Romulus Rotary Club's determination to allow "neighbor to meet neighbor" during the club's second annual community picnic at Elmer Johnson Park.

According to Picnic Chairman Dave McCrory, the Rotary was pleased with last year's picnic results, despite what amounted to a Sunday afternoon monsoon which dampened the picnicking spirits.

"We're hoping for better weather," because we believe this picnic should be an important event for the community," McCrory said.

No projections on the number of persons who will attend the picnic, scheduled for Sunday afternoon at Elmer Johnson Park on Ozga Road in Romulus, will be made by McCrory.

"All we can promise is that the people attending the picnic will have a good time," he said. "We had pretty good success despite the rains and high winds last year."

Featured as part of the picnic will be games for young and old alike, refreshments on sale by the Rotary and the now annual Rotary-Kiwanis softball game.

For McCrory and the other 30 members of the Romulus Rotary Club, this year's softball game will be an attempt to vindicate themselves for last year's poor showing on the diamond.

"I won't even tell you what the score was," McCrory said. "Let's just say that we're out to do much better."

Despite their lack of success on the ball diamond, the Rotary will go into the picnic with a string of successes in their real skill—community betterment.

Part of the reason for the picnic is the Rotary's determination to celebrate a year which featured charitable donations to the Romulus Community School District, the Romulus Little League, the Boy Scouts and Girl Scouts, crippled children, the Romulus Help Center and the Western Wayne County YWCA.

This year's second annual picnic is the Rotary's way of "promoting the Romulus community", according to McCrory.

"For many years, the Rotary held the annual Chicken Barbecue in Romulus," McCrory said. "But the project became too difficult for the club, so our community event now is the picnic."

"We're hoping to have hundreds of families from throughout the community in attendance so they can meet the Rotarians and their fellow Romulus residents."

The picnic is scheduled to begin at 12 p.m. and run until 6 p.m. in Elmer Johnson Park.

No admission is charged for the day of activities, and all area residents are invited to attend.

Seniors to trek to Toronto, Ont.

Romulus senior citizens have until Friday to turn in their $25 deposit for the annual Toronto Party Bus, sponsored by the Romulus Recreation Department.

The bus, which will take seniors who can afford the roundtrip fare to Toronto, is scheduled to leave Romulus Sept. 16 and return to the community Sept. 18.

Included in the 3-day event are accommodations at the New Chelsea Inn in downtown Toronto, dinner at the Spaghetti Factory, a tour of the Ontario Science Center and baggage handling throughout the tour.

Cost of the trip is $73 per person for a double-occupancy room based on a minimum reservation of 44 persons.

Information on the trip can be obtained by calling Wilma Pomroy at 941-0666.

Final payment on the trip is due Aug. 25 and a $15 cancellation fee will be charged for cancellations within two weeks of the trip.

Michigan publications win in Panax national contest

Panax Newspapers serving Southeastern and Central Michigan recently won 19 of 33 top awards — including a clean sweep of two categories in the company's nationwide news excellence judging.

The newspapers were The Macomb Daily, which won 10 awards; Mellus Newspapers based in Lincoln Park, 5; Associated Newspapers based in Wayne-Westland, 3; and the Dearborn Press and Mt. Pleasant Daily Times — News, one each.

The honors were announced at the annual meeting of Panax

Newspaper editors at Sugar Loaf Mountain last week.

The clean sweeps were accomplished in the Best Feature story and Best News story categories. The Macomb Daily's coverage by John Howas of the Nov. 13, 1975, sewer explosion in downtown Mt. Clemens took first place in the news story judging, with Mellus Newspapers and Associated Newspapers winning second and third places. Mellus' Richard Mosey took top honors in the feature story category with his treatment of the appearance of the TV show Bowling for Dollars at a Lincoln Park bowl alley. The Macomb Daily took second in that category, with Mellus Newspapers third.

Other awards included: The Macomb Daily: First place — Best Feature series by Charles Thomas on the growing religious fanaticism among the young generation; best feature pictures, a full page picture report on the "Mass of the Sick" by photographer Dave Posavetz; and the best front page display and layout. Second places — Investigative Reporting for stories by Ken Kish and Charles Thomas on Macomb Probate Court practices in handing out estate appraisals; sports story to Chuck Klonke for an interview with former baseball great Bob Feller; feature story — Bo Campbell's account of how Jeff and Eva Girar of East Detroit cared for 150 foster children; individual columns — Mitch Kehetian's tribute to the late James Trainor, former city editor of the Detroit Times; editorial comment, for an editorial dealing with school financing and operations. Photographer Robert Sasanelli's picture of the burning Arethusa Hotel in downtown Mt. Clemens won third place in the newsphoto division.

Associated Newspaper: Front page layout and display, second place; third places in feature pictures for Lothar Konietzko's photo of a little girl posing as a Little teapot, and Henry Cantin's news story on the finding of a missing boy.

Mellus Newspapers: Second place in the news story category for the disclosure by James O'Toole and Al duHadway of court docket conditions in the Lincoln Park Municipal district court; and third places for Irene LaNoue's feature story and a special section on the Downriver Tennis Championship.

Mt. Pleasant Daily Times - News: Third place in editorial writing for comments on the Pigeon River Forest Oil Drilling controversy.

Dearborn Press: Third place in the sports story category for a report by Bill Casper on junior athletic programs.

Crime victims to get aid

Financial help from the state to victims of serious crime became a reality, according to State Sen. Patrick McCollough (D-Dearborn).

Governor Milliken has signed into law a bill introduced by McCollough, to reimburse crime victims up to $15,000, from the state to pay medical expenses or make up lost wages.

"This is a historic piece of legislation since for the first time the state has taken positive action to compensate victims of serious crimes," McCollough said.

"While we must continue to be vigilant in our efforts to prevent crimes and to apprehend and punish criminals, I feel it is also the state's responsibility to do something to help the innocent victims of crime."

McCollough said crime victims who lose at least $100 because of medical costs or treatment, or who lost at least two weeks' wages, will be eligible to apply to the state for reimbursement.

Generally, a crime victim who is determined to be eligible for state assistance can receive up to $100 a week for medical expenses and loss of wages. The maximum amount of state reimbursement cannot exceed $15,000 per crime to any person," McCollough said.

Among those eligible for state compensation are the victims of a direct attack or those who try to help a crime victim and are injured; the surviving family members of a person killed in a crime; and a woman who becomes pregnant as the result of a rape.

system with sewer funds collected in our community, we're purchasing that portion of the system which our funds helped build—not a set capacity as was determined years ago," he continued.

However, the WCRC maintains that the "extra" capacity of the system is the road commission's to disperse, providing communities involved in the system agree with the dispersal.

Thirteen communities have agreed to give capacity in the system to the City of Riverview, and Van Buren's agreement is all that is needed to implement the capacity exchange.

Riverview officials have been forced to find some means to treat their sewage after the Michigan Water Resources Commission ruled that the city violated environmental protection standards by pushing too much sewage through Riverview's existing treatment plant into the Detroit River.

'...the discrepancies never were ironed out...'

Riverview officials have been in contact with Van Buren officials to inquire why the township is holding up the agreement.

"It's too bad Riverview has to suffer," Gollwitzer said. "But on two previous occasions, the communities in the downriver system knuckled under to the 'brinksmanship' of the system's operators under the promise that the discrepancy over who owns the system will be ironed out after the agreements were signed.

"Needless to say, the discrepancies never were straightened out, and this time we have the lever to force them to be corrected."

Gollwitzer added that township officials are fearing for future residents of Van Buren in their quest to obtain some clarification over the "ownership" of the system.

"There will be a time when the township's present capacity in the downriver system is inadequate to care for its needs," Gollwitzer said. "At that time, the township will be forced to purchase added capacity to care for its needs."

"But the time may not come so soon, if the township is allowed to use its portion of the 35 percent extra capacity in the system which township funds helped finance."

"It's better to act now to clarify the matter than to wait until it's mandatory that we act, and we end up at the mercy of the system's operators."

need, we're also interested in helping that person overcome that need, either through referrals to the proper agency or arranging for that person to undergo training or job counseling.

"But even so, the workload continues to grow."

Part of the reason the workload at the Thrift Shop continues to increase is because it is becoming more well-known and people continue to look toward the Romulus-based agency for aid.

But another reason is the continuing development of new programs intended to broaden the type of "help" that the Thrift Shop provides.

One such new program which is in the planning stage is "Abilities, not Disabilities" (AND which is dedicated to improving the strengths and not dwelling on the infirmities of the physically or emotionally disabled person).

"We believe in the basic worth of all human beings," Mrs. Klein explained. "And for this reason, we hope to help the handicapped make a better life for themselves either through added training or encouragement."

"Hopefully, this program will meet that end for a segment of the community."

Persons who make use of the charitable portion of the Thrift Shop operation—either utilizing the clothing bank, the baby clothing bank, or drawing on the limited supply of emergency food supplies, are referred to the operation by

"recognized agencies".

"We work through the schools, the county Department of Social Services and the welfare office among others, to find clients," Mrs. Klein said. "All a person in need of help should do is get some sort of a referral letter from a worker in a recognized service agency which recommends that person for help."

According to Mrs. Klein, the only reason for the referrals is to provide some sort of a "check" against possible fraud.

"We're willing to help anyone, so long as they need help," she explained.

But, at the same time, the agency is in need of help.

"Right now we're working out of two buildings," Mrs. Klein said.

"The clothing bank is located at 37510 Huron River Drive, Romulus, and the office is located at the back of the Romulus Recreation Department at 36515 Bibbins St., Romulus.

"We'd love to get back into one building, but that takes much more money than we have."

"I've been praying hard for some form of help, and so far, God has provided for us."

If a person doesn't have a building to be given away, Mrs. Klein said the Thrift Shop will take donations of time, funds or goods.

"Volunteer workers always are appreciated, either for working within the agency, or for setting-up events such as canned food drives or clothing banks for donation to the Thrift Shop," Mrs. Klein added. "We'll also take donations, which are tax deductible."

"Right now, we're hoping to receive more foods for our emergency food relief program, since the food bank is depleted. Although we don't like to be in the food business, we're willing to help tide someone over if no other agency will help right away."

Persons who wish to offer aid, or seek help, can do so by calling the Thrift Shop at 941-5323.

In addition, Mrs. Klein said persons who may not have the ability to offer help materially can aid the program spiritually. "We're always willing to accept a few prayers," she said. "It's what has kept us going this long."

Artists get chance to 'crow' in Community Mart display

The artists of Romulus and surrounding communities will have their chance to "crow" Saturday when the Romulus Community Mart features an arts and crafts show.

The 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. event, to be held at the Romulus Progressive Club at Ozga and Grant Roads near Kennedy Park at Five Points in Romulus, is part of the bartering and selling associated with the "old fashioned fair" atmosphere of the community mart.

Expected to be on hand are buyers and sellers of produce, plants and minor antiques as well as art patrons from throughout the area.

June Blanton, coordinator of the event, expects at least 14 artists to be on hand displaying such crafts as china painting, oil painting, black velvet painting, macrame, ceramics and some assorted crafts as jewelry making and metal sculpture.

"We're still looking for more people though," she explained. "We want as many artists as possible to show up."

Arrangements for space can be made by calling Mrs. Blanton at 722-3877.

In pushing the art display, Mrs. Blanton is promoting competition to her own interests.

"I agreed to take on the community mart for a week on the promise that we'd have the art show," Mrs. Blanton said. "I was interested in it because I work in art."

Among the items Mrs. Blanton has done herself are oil paintings, watercolors, black velvet painting and plaster of paris painting.

However, the show's promoter may not have an opportunity to display her work with her competitors.

Mart and may not have time to set up myself," she said. "I may ask the family to do it for me."

Space in the mart goes for $2 per person displaying merchandise with the funds used to defray the cost of the cleanup.

The art show display is the third from last for the mart.

Next week will be Scouting Week with Scouts from throughout the area displaying their projects and giving performances of Indian dances.

Goldie Hoffman is in charge of the Scout Week activities.

On the following week, the Romulus Bicentennial Choir, organized by Janet Darnell, will perform.

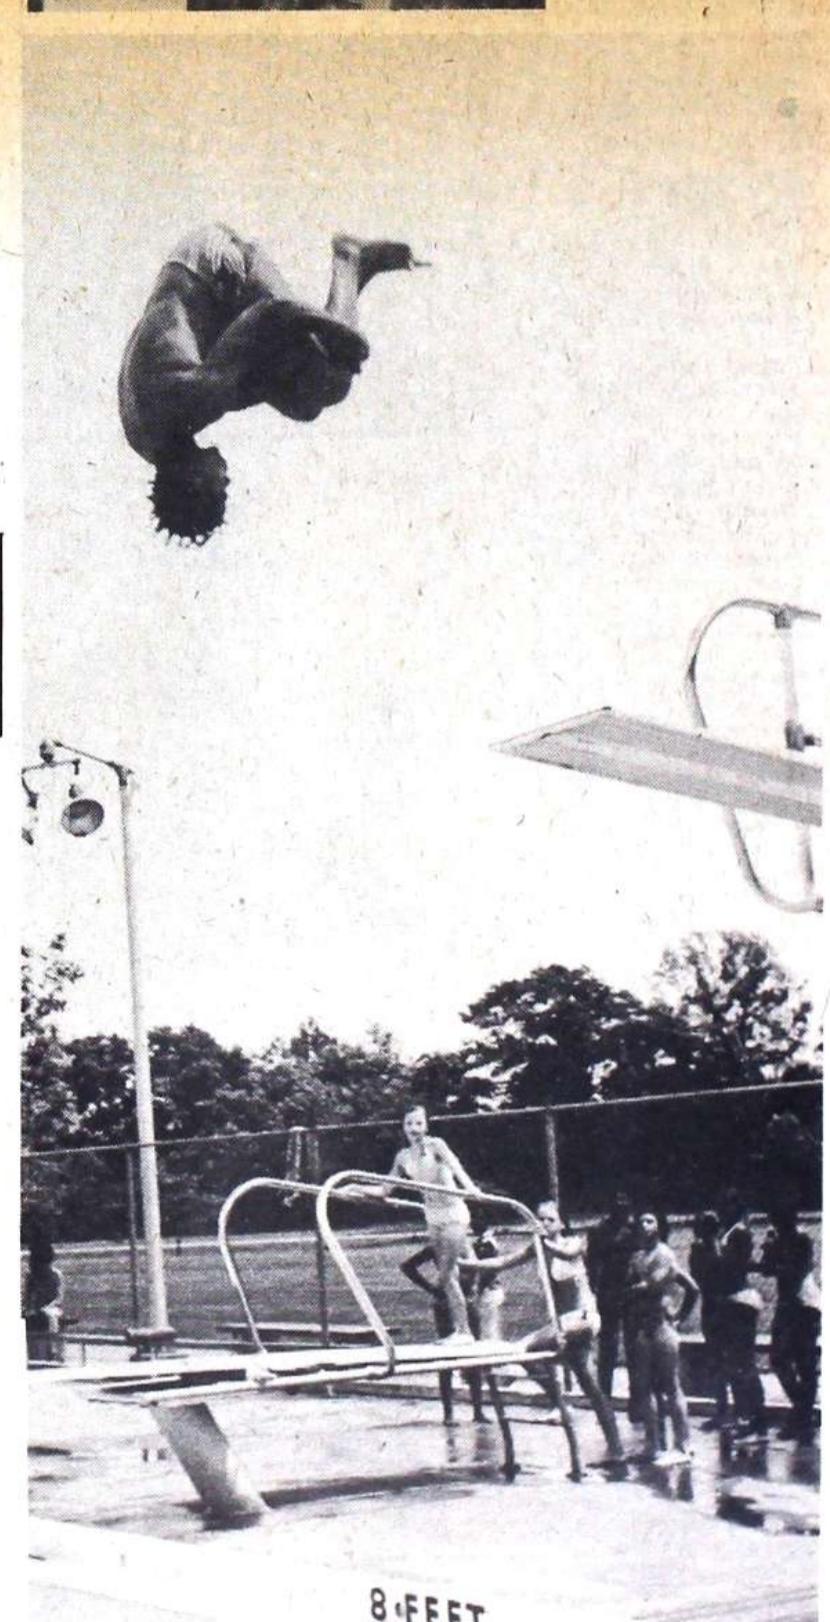

The Bicentennial Choir is made up of individuals and groups in the community who are interested in either instrumental or vocal music.

To be performed will be songs ranging from religious to classical to popular.

Men in blue vs. men in gray in re-enactment of skirmish

Loading up

Troopers of a re-created Civil War Confederate regiment attend to the fine points of their muzzleloaders' care before going to the firing line. These men, and nearly 300 others costumed in Civil War garb, were among those participating in last year's Northwest Territories

Skirmish, held at the Western Wayne County Conservation Club. This year the club again will host the skirmish at its Napier Road location. The competition will run from 9 a.m. to 7 p.m. Saturday and Sunday.

Men in blue will meet men in gray on a field west of Plymouth this month to re-enact a page from American history.

Although the occasion will be called a skirmish, the only "casualties" will be wooden stakes and "clay" pigeons, both shattered in friendly competition.

More than 250 costumed shooters from muzzleloading clubs across the Midwest are expected to attend the Northwest Territories "Lone Star" Regional Skirmish on Saturday and Sunday.

Host of the event will be the Western Wayne County Conservation Association (WWCCA).

Admission will be free, although a $2 fee will be charged for parking. The hours will be 9 a.m. to 7 p.m. both days.

Located about four miles west of Plymouth, at 6700 Napier Road, north of North Territorial Road, WWCCA has given over its entire facilities to the 2-day skirmish.

"This is the kind of event that the whole family can attend and enjoy," said WWCCA President Bob Laich. "We would like to encourage everyone, especially the younger people, to come out and learn some of country's history and tradition first hand. If they've never been to a muzzleloaders' skirmish before, it will be an experience they never will forget."

Spectators will be able to follow each team's progress with the naked eye as volley after volley is fired from the front-loading guns.

Targets are intended to be "visual". They will include "clay" pigeons, which burst when struck by the thumb-sized bullets, and heavy wooden planks which actually must be "sawed" in half by each team's massed fire.

More than 250 costumed shooters... are expected to attend...

To round out the Bicentennial event, the nationally famous 5th Michigan Regimental Band will be on hand Sunday to perform patriotic music of the 1800s. Each of the group's 150 members is authentically dressed in the style of the 5th Michigan Regiment, which saw action during the Civil War.

In addition, more than 30 antique cars will be on display, and a chicken barbecue and pancake breakfast will be served. Other popular refreshments will be available during both days.

The Northwest Territories "Lone Star" Regional Skirmish will be a sanctioned regional meet of the North-South Skirmish Association.

Transit system gets $10.1 million in funding

Gov. William G. Milliken has announced that a new $10.1 million federal transportation grant will, when combined with $2.25 million in state general transportation funds, provide 153 new buses for the Detroit area transportation system.

The grant from the Urban Mass Transportation Administration includes other capital improvements to the bus system in southeast Michigan, such as shelters, bus stop signs and engineering for Detroit Department of Transportation (D-DOT) of Shoemaker construction project.

The Southeastern Michigan Transportation Authority will administer the funds and the new buses will be put into use as soon as purchasing can be completed.

"These new buses will provide more efficient and more attractive equipment for Detroit area bus riders," Milliken said. "D-DOT is now short 100 buses and a good percentage of the new vehicles will go to that system, replacing many older buses."

RHS Class of 1951 sets date of reunion

The Romulus High School Class of 1971 is scheduling a reunion for Sept. 11 at the VFW Hall on Huron River Drive in Romulus.

Tickets for the affair will be $15 per couple or $8.50 per person.

Information on the get-together can be obtained by calling either 941-0326 or 326-0260.

Society prints booklet

The Historical Society of Michigan has published a Bicentennial Directory of Historical Museums in Michigan, listing 90 such facilities located throughout the state.

Designed to serve as a visitor's guide, the directory lists museums by cities and includes museum hours and admission fees. There also is a section on special exhibits at major museums scheduled for now through December.

Copies of the museum directory are available for 25 cents each from the Historical Society of Michigan, 2117 Washtenaw Avenue, Ann Arbor 48104, or by calling 769-1828. Quantities of 10 copies or more cost 15 cents each.

Gollwitzer puts blame in right spot

Van Buren Township Supervisor G. Elton Gollwitzer couldn't have spoken with more truth when he said the apparent abuses of taxing privilege in the Wayne County Drain Commissioner's office not only should be blamed on the drain commissioner himself but also on the full board of Wayne County commissioners.

Under the county set-up in Wayne, the Board of Commissioners is responsible for the appropriation of general fund money while the drain commissioner handles the administrative chores of constructing and maintaining drains.

The administrative costs of the drain commissioner's office normally would be born by the funds appropriated by the Board of Commissioners.

However, in a county "reduced spending" plan, the full board kept back funds to cover the full costs, and "looked the other way" when the drain commissioner included the costs on drain maintenance tax bills in what Chester Pierce, attorney for the commissioner, termed a "quasi-legal" maneuver.

But, there was a check on the so-called "quasi-legal" maneuver a bare two weeks before it was implemented.

By county law, the full Board of Commissioners had to vote on which items should be included on county tax bills. When the drain assessment plan, which many area leaders maintain is illegal, was proposed to them, the commission members in effect "looked the other way" to allow its inclusion on the tax bill. The strategic turning of the head came despite attempts by at least two commissioners, including Royce C. Smith (D-27th District), who represents Belleville and Van Buren among other communities, and several public officials from downriver and Western Wayne County communities to inform the board that it was heading toward what could be an illegal move.

For those commissioners who felt a tinge of guilt—or fear they'd lose votes—in approving the drain tax inclusion despite the allegation it was illegal, there was a "safety valve"—an abstention on the issue.

With Detroit-area commissioners agreeing with the drain tax scheme, largely because their citizens weren't affected by its approval, the tax bills went out with the drain assessment included, and the drain commissioner's office maintained its quota of workers by taxing the people for "drain improvements" to make up the difference between what the full board approved for operations, and what was needed to maintain the bureaucracy.

If there is blame for the full board, it was in making the decision on the drain assessment without knowledge of its implications.

The abstentions on the vote were out of ignorance of the issue, not concern for possibly approving an illegal tax.

Any other legislative body would have delayed consideration until the matter was researched under the type of allegations presented by to the board by some of its members and elected officials from out-county areas.

But the Wayne County board didn't delay the decision; it merely slugged it off on members whose vote in favor of it wouldn't hurt their chances to maintain their reign in office.

The drain commissioner problem points once again to the faultiness of the administrative operations in Wayne County, where no one person has the power to set policy for administrative functioning within the county.

And the Board of Commissioners which is charged with the administrative task in the absence of a county executive doesn't take the time to study issues enough to make an intelligent decision on them.

Lack of productivity is Legislature's sign

By HARRY HALL
Past President
Michigan State
Chamber of Commerce

From a taxpayers point of view, one of the most productive actions of the Legislature this year could be the decision to take a recess for a couple of months. It would have been more praiseworthy if the legislators had resolved to adjourn until next year or later.

I do not disparage the few constructive acts passed during this lengthy session that started early in January. I do not minimize the defeat or tabling of some of the more pernicious proposals. I do not belittle the sincere efforts of some resolute legislators who try to resolve serious issues with an orderly approach in an organically chaotic political structure. I do deplore the paucity of meaningful accomplishments when related to the costs and measurable benefits to the taxpayers. I do rue the disproportionate amount of time wasted on trivia while matters of major consequence are postponed, ignored or evaded. I do implore voters to examine with care and caution the political posturing and partisan finger-pointing by legislators seeking re-election this year or any other year.

I admit that it is difficult to evaluate the total record of the Legislature in general terms. Any evaluation is a very subjective matter. Whether the record is favorable or unfavorable depends on a point of view. That point of view is determined by what is expected by an individual, or group or particular interest. Labor and management, consumer and supplier, partisan Republican and partisan Democrat, taxpayer and tax spender will praise or condemn the same piece of legislation. It has been said that where you stand depends on where you sit.

No matter where anybody sits, there should be a deep concern about what any given legislator in any district does about increasing the job opportunities in Michigan. This is not a concern of just the jobless. This is important to the security and future economic status of all job holders, all business (large and small), all professional practitioners, all self-employed entrepreneurs. An improved job climate is essential if jobs are to be available to a growing population and if the state government is to maintain a tax base sufficient to provide even the essential protective and human service that an overexpectant public demands.

Job opportunities have been decreasing in Michigan at an alarming rate—angry self-serving denials by the politicians and bungling bureaucrats who are to blame for this situation notwithstanding. The cause of this undesirable and unnecessary condition is no mystery. Bluntly speaking, the primary reason for a declining job rate in the state is the persistent insistence by elected officials of the legislative and executive branches of state government to impose costs of doing business in Michigan that are drastically disproportionate to other states.

Unreasonable and non-competitive high costs of workmen's compensation, unemployment compensation, welfare, environmental controls, total state and local taxes and similar governmentally dictated items do determine the capacity of business to operate and provide jobs in competition with business firms offering the same products or services from locations in other states.

When these state mandated burdens are added to business costs, employees and consumers are the direct victims because prices of products and services must be escalated accordingly. If a company involved in this squeeze does not raise prices to offset these legislatively imposed costs it faces bankruptcy and jobs are lost. If a company does raise prices to compensate for these added costs it may lose business to out-of-state firms and jobs are lost.

In either case employees and customers of the company are losers.

So, if your legislator is not traveling on some junket at your expense or is not holding some public hearing where nobody listens or is not collecting per diem expenses to attend some committee meeting and if your legislator can be cornered between speeches for re-election, this recess period is an appropriate time to ask some hard nosed, hard headed, hard-to-duck questions.

After all, what do you know about your legislator's record? What is the voting record on key issues that have a direct impact on the job climate? Are you getting representation or misrepresention?

Here is a self applied test on the questions you should ask if you do not know the answers. These are just a few examples for starters.

How did your legislator vote in 1975 on the unemployment compensation increase? Maybe you heard about the increased benefits. Maybe you heard nothing about the increased costs and the disincentives to return to work. Before that bill was passed through collusive actions by the governor and the Democratic leadership the average cost to the employer per worker per year was $128.50. After the bill was enacted into law in the middle of 1975 the cost per worker per year increased to $156.50. On January 1, 1976 that cost leaped to $192.50. Remember the employer pays all of the cost.

The next highest state in the nation is California with an average annual cost of $125.94. Costs in neighboring Indiana are $45.95, in Ohio, $48.75, Wisconsin, $61.90, Illinois, $63.94. In a high cost state for everything that it takes to create and maintain jobs the discrepancy in costs is too great to encourage industrial expansion. When your legislator, or your chief executive officer of the state for that matter, brag about the increased benefits for the unemployed be sure to recognize the effect such excessive increase has on increasing the jobless ranks.

Was your legislator a sponsor of a workmen's compensation bill that would have doubled the costs to Michigan employers without correcting the scandalous abuses that make Michigan employers without correcting the scandalous abuses that make Michigan the highest cost state in the nation now? Benefits in Michigan are not the highest, just the costs. Abuses of the system escalate these costs and cheat worthy claimants of deserved compensation.

Yet in 1975 70 state representatives and 20 senators sponsored identical bills that would have rocketed costs to job producing employers from $600 million to $1.2 billion or more each year. It was not passed because of massive protest from employers and employees alike. Still no action has been taken to correct widely recognized, outrageous abuses of the system or to increase benefits for people who merit attention. All voters should be concerned about a legislator who sponsored such irresponsible, job killing bills.

After all, what do you know about your legislator's record? What is the voting record on key issues that have a direct impact on the job climate? Are you getting representation or misrepresen-tions?

According to Gollwitzer, the county board may have set a record by having more abstention votes cast on an issue. Virtually every county commissioner from the out-county area which was being victimized by the assessment elected to "turn his head" by abstaining on the issue. However, Smith stuck to his guns and voted "no".

With Detroit-area commissioners agreeing with the drain tax scheme, largely because their citizens weren't affected by its approval, the tax bills went out with the drain assessment included, and the drain commissioner's office maintained its quota of workers by taxing the people for "drain improvements" to make up the difference between what the full board approved for operations, and what was needed to maintain the bureaucracy.

If there is blame for the full board, it was in making the decision on the drain assessment without knowledge of its implications.

The abstentions on the vote were out of ignorance of the issue, not concern for possibly approving an illegal tax.

Any other legislative body would have delayed consideration until the matter was researched under the type of allegations presented by to the board by some of its members and elected officials from out-county areas.

Charities: Know the asker

The boiler room boys are heating up.

And residents in the Belleville and Romulus areas may begin to feel their heat.

It's near that time of year when phone solicitations flourish on behalf of organizations, special projects and noble causes.

Boiler room operators (platoons of telephone solicitors operating from temporary facilities) call to sell tickets, ask for donations, and all too often appeal for advertising space in some publications.

It also is near the time when foundations are approached and churches campaign for support.

For the record, you should know that Americans donated a record $26.88 billion to charity in 1975, a 6.5 percent increase over donations in 1974. The temptations for the boiler room boys to share the wealth is compelling.

The American Association of Fund-Raising Counsel Inc., which is the only organization in the country reporting on religious groups soliciting money from the general public, observes that this year the poor economic climate has forced a good many corporations and foundations to limit their donations and that the public in general is becoming much more discriminating in its giving. The pressure is on.

The boiler room boys also have learned to make a specialty of minority solicitations in the name of "civil rights" or "equal opportunity."

If there are questions as to which solicitations may or may not be legitimate a

Why the polls were so outrageously wrong in Austin's case is a question that has attracted several answers.

Obviously the pollsters were pitifully misinformed when they earlier showed that race would not be much of an issue because Austin had done so well when he ran for Senator.

One guy who didn't believe the pollsters was Don Riegle.

Riegle said he was gaining fast on Austin, but what did he know? The pollster said otherwise.

On the Brighter Side

Teen-age trauma

By JIM BRADLEY
Pastor, Fair Haven Baptist Church

Were you popular and well-known in high school or were you about as inconspicuous as a locker door?

Ralph Keyes says there are "innies" and "outies" in high school. But both groups are losers over a lifetime.

Keyes has written a book entitled: "Is There Life After High School?" (My high school experiences were so dull I didn't know if there was life during high school.)

According to a review of his book, Keyes says the "innies" are the type that are cheer leaders, star athletes or president of the student body. The "outies" are more-or-less pimple-faced jerks with bad breath.

Many famous people were interviewed by Keyes about their high school lives. Actors Dustin Hoffman and Gregory Peck, the late President Harry Truman and actress Ali McGraw all had dismal experiences in high school. And everyone, it seems, remembers the bad things that happened to them rather than the good.

Maybe we remember our teen-age failures because there were so many of them and because we felt so insecure at the time. I know I had more than my share of goofs in high school. Like I always was going in the "out" door, up the "down" stairway or asking the teacher to change seats with me.

One of the things that led to my insecurity in high school was my appearance. I had buck teeth, a large nose, wore glasses and walked pigeon-toed on flat feet. I was almost six feet tall and weighed 140 pounds nothing but skin and bones. I was so thin my ribs looked like venetian blinds and when I drank red pop I resembled a thermometer.

Despite all this, I still played on the baseball team and wrote for the school newspaper. But somehow I got the feeling that other people didn't want me around. I mean, how much of the game can you really see from inside the bat bag? And the editor put my desk in the dark room of the photo lab.

Yes, I'll agree that I remember my embarrassing moments. Three red-faced experiences came in my last semester while writing for the high school paper. Now, to understand what I'm about to say, you must realize that Mr. Martin never, ever gave anyone a byline (their name) on any story they wrote. No one, that is, except good old Jim What's-his-name.

I made Page 1 in April when I goofed on a story. The next issue carried a bold black headline which read CORRECTION. Underneath were these words: "An unfortunate mistake in quoting salaries occurred in the commercial story in last week's Observer. They were printed as $125 to $175, while they should have been $175 to $225. Regrettably, Jim Bradley." Now I don't know whether I was regretful about the mistake or how low the salaries were.

But just seeing my name on Page 1, even draped in black, gave me a sense of recognition. It was such a heady feeling, that perhaps it led to another mistake in May that gave me the only bonefide byline anyone had the whole year. We wrote our own headlines and had to count the number of units in the head to make sure it would fit. Well, I miscounted and stern old Mr. Martin printed the mistake just as I had miscounted and he put my name underneath.

On the third goof, I didn't get a byline, in fact I was almost the victim of a lynching mob. The intramural boxing program started and I was asked to cover the event. As a 17-year-old sports enthusiast I wrote the headline: "BOXING STARTS DESPITE DOCTORS' WARNING BLASTS."

The first two lines read: "Despite numerous doctors blasting boxing as being of no good whatever, it began Monday. Doctors all over the country are denouncing the manly art of self defense as a quick way to bodily injury and lasting harmful reactions on the brain." I don't know why, but those few harmless words caused coach Frank McIntyre to cancel the entire intramural boxing program and there was a school of angry people. Boys, girls, friends, parents, everybody it seemed, was cussing me out and threatening to rearrange my ugly features.

Now I didn't intend to get the intramural boxing program stopped, I was simply writing my honest observations as a budding journalist. I felt bad and even cried when the coach said he couldn't possibly continue the boxing program after what I had written.

Carter's gun stand causes alarm

By JEFFREY ST. JOHN
Copley News Service

Gun groups and sporting organizations, for example, are alarmed by a number of facts that have surfaced since Carter was nominated...

"The Democratic Party," states the 1976 Platform, "must provide the leadership for a coordinated federal and state effort to strengthen the presently inadequate controls over the manufacture, assembly, distribution and possession of handguns and to ban Saturday night specials."

While the party platform "affirms the right of sportsmen to possess guns" various state and national gun organizations are reported alarmed over Jimmy Carter's position on gun control. In fact, there is a large body of evidence to suggest that if elected president, Carter would move to regulate and control firearms to a greater degree than any past Democratic president.

Gun groups and sporting organizations, for example, are alarmed by a number of facts that have surfaced since Carter was nominated. Carter's principal fund-raiser, Maurice Dees of Montgomery, Ala., earlier this year formed the National Gun Control

Center, located in Washington, D.C. Dees, a former George McGovern fund-raiser in 1972, has vowed that "within five years we will break the National Rifle Association."

Serving on the group's national committee are supporters and aides of Carter: Atlanta Mayor Maynard Jackson, Congressman Andrew Young (D-Ga.) and Theodore Sorenson, a former aide to John F. Kennedy. Joseph Califano, a former top assistant to Lyndon Johnson, also is serving as a principal domestic advisor to Carter and is reported being considered as chief recruiter for any future Carter administration. It was Califano in 1968 who guided the first gun control legislation through Congress since the FDR New Deal.

Carter's running mate, Sen. Walter Mondale (D-Minn.) has voted for gun control legislation in the past. Sen. John Glenn (D-Ohio), a keynote speaker at the New York national convention, headed up in 1968 an Emergency Committee for Gun Control; although since being elected to the Senate he has modified his view on gun control, but has not renounced the principle that government should control guns.

Key Democratic Party leaders like Congressman Peter Rodino (D-N.J.), chairman of the House

Judiciary Committee, are clearly in favor of controls on firearms.

Rodino was considered by Carter as a vice-presidential running mate. The only member of the Democratic Party Platform Committee to vote against the platform was Louisiana State Rep. Louis "Woody" Jenkins. He contends that both the Platform Committee and the convention suppressed any attempt to modify the gun control plank of the party.

"It endorses the concept of controls," Jenkins said. "They (the Carter people) kept everything under control. The banning of handguns was deliberately kept vague and we do not know how it will be carried out. There is no sentiment in the platform that every American has a Constitutional right to 'Keep and Bear Arms' as guaranteed in the Second Amendment to the U.S. Constitution."

Joe Heath, a Washington spokesman for the National Gun Control Center created by Carter's principal fund-raiser, states that the aim of the Center is a "complete ban on handguns" and he refused to rule out an eventual ban on rifles.

"The details will have to be worked out," he told a reporter shortly before the Democratic Convention.

What worries anti-gun control groups and sportsmen is that Carter, if elected, would have around him staffers who favor strong gun control while he may have a Democratic majority in Congress whose party leaders in both Houses favor federal controls of firearms far beyond what has been proposed up to now.

If Carter is intent on moving to regulate and control firearms, the powerful and politically active anti-gun control groups like the National Rifle Association and the Gun Owners of America can be expected to work for his defeat.

Carter's current position on gun control presents two ironies. The first is that any gun control program most directly would affect Southerners, where gun ownership is the highest in the nation. Second, that while Carter and the party platform endorsed control of firearms by federal and state governments, neither the candidate nor his party has come out with a statement or plank condemning domestic terrorism or proposed a program of self-defense for law-abiding citizens against domestic terrorists.

Bicentennial broadcast

produces feeling of awe

By TOM OCHILTREE
Panax Washington Correspondent

As Panax sees it

If George Washington and King George III could have witnessed the recent Bicentennial celebrations, nothing would have startled them more or been harder for them to understand than the television broadcasting of the proceedings by satellite.

Even for modern Americans, accustomed to the wonders of space-age communications, the size and complexity of the arrangements employed by the U.S. Information Agency (USIA) produced a feeling of awe.

The USIA's Motion Picture and Television Service carried out one of the most complex satellite telecasts ever attempted July 3 and 4 while residents of the City of Washington and Americans from all parts of the nation witnessed a happy celebration of the nation's 200th birthday.

In all the USIA fed live action and taped material to television stations in 37 countries on those two days. This "Salute by Satellite" had been in the planning stage for two years. One high point shared with

Right to work may succumb to legislation

By PATRICK BUCHANAN
New York Times News Service

On July 8, the Democrat-controlled State Senate voted 25-14 to outlaw compulsory unionism in Louisiana. Eight hours after the vote, 38-year-old Jim Leslie, public relations counsel for the right-to-work campaign, walked out of a victory celebration and was shot to death in a parking lot.

To date, it is not known whether Leslie's shotgun slaying was connected to his pivotal role in making Louisiana the 20th state in the Union to block union bosses from forcing men to join as a condition of holding a job. But that victory leaves every state in the old Confederacy — the fastest growing region of America — with a right-to-work law.

For years, of course, these laws were thought to be the contrivance of rapacious capitalists, out to smash the single organization through which working men and women might enter the middle class. That impression has changed, along with the changing image of Big Labor.

In the national survey, commissioned by the right-to-work folks, and done by the Opinion Research Corp., 75 percent of the American people; and 72 percent of union families, now are against the idea of forcing men or women into unions as a condition for keeping their jobs. Surely, part of the reason is the heightened emphasis upon freedom of association. But another is that altered image of Big Labor.

Even the most hardened of viewers in far away places was the colorful parade down Constitution Avenue. The costumes of the marchers, the music of the bands and the decorated floats told the American story from the time of the colonists to the present. There were tears in many eyes when a massed band from Virginia high schools came swinging by playing "The Battle Hymn of the Republic," the pulse-pounding song of the Union army in the Civil War.

Thanks to the USIA, the American birthday party was seen by millions of viewers throughout the world. Thousands of television stations carried the program.

Part of the time the feeds to Italy, Yugoslavia, Poland, France, Portugal, Greece, Israel, Brazil and Japan were anchored by prominent television correspondents from those countries brought to Washington by the USIA.

Editing these programs was a massive job itself. Each of the foreign broadcasters, for example, arrived in the United States several days before the telecast. They were given an opportunity to do "stand ups" at such traditional sites as the Capitol and lawn of the White House.

The coverage truly was an agency-wide project. More than 100 persons throughout the USIA participated in some aspect of the project, from producers to technicians and from escort officers to area consultants.

Each individual program was 15 minutes in length. Each had elements common to the others, but there were 14 variations on the basic theme.

That theme was enunciated by President Gerald Ford who praised the contributions made by immigrants from various parts of the world to the quality and diversity of life in the United States.

Vice-President Nelson Rockefeller had an important role, particularly in programs designed for Latin America. He did his commentary for those in Spanish.

USIA Director James Keogh was pleased that a television broadcasting arrangement as complex as this turned out so well.

He also saw the program as offering a unique opportunity to build understanding between Americans and other peoples of the world.

Reunions prompt trips to Virginia, Iowa

By LEE SMITH
Suburban Living Editor

The Wallaces of Romulus — J.R. and Dorothy — are back in town after an absence of 10 days. With their daughter and son-in-law, Bethann and Roger Machowski of Coldwater, they motored to Roanoke, Va. where they were houseguests of Mrs. W.'s parents, Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Hunter.

Prompting the trip was the annual Ashley family reunion which was held at the Hunter home (Mrs. Hunter having been Priscilla Ashley before her marriage.) Not only was the gathering very special in that it marked the 50th time the clan had amassed but the group also enjoyed the company of an English relative who was visiting the United States for the first time and joining in the Bicentennial observance.

Mrs. Hester Ashley Day had flown in from London especially for the event and also to attend the wedding of a great-niece, Marianne Kent, and Bryan Wills, which took place the same week-end as the reunion. The Wallaces and Machowskis also were at the ceremony and reception.

Before returning home the foursome was entertained by various relatives

To the sound of music

A story hour with a lilt to it was held in late July on the Fred C. Fischer Library Patio in Belleville. Some 35 youngsters and their parents listened to the words and music of Phyllis Clark, children's librarian, whose assistant for the day was Linda Koger (holding up words to music.) Four stories, songs and a game were all part of the afternoon which included a sing-along to guitar accompaniment and "Hallelujah Biscuits" with special words of the recipe set to the music of "Battle Hymn of the Republic" with tambourine rhythm as background. A special guest of head librarian Helen McClatchey and her staff was Barbara Gray, assistant director of the Wayne County Library Headquarters in Wayne.

Free RV guides available

Free copies of the 1976-1977 Guide to Recreational Vehicle Dealers in Michigan, published by the Michigan Association of Recreational Vehicles and Campgrounds (MARVAC), are now available.

The pamphlet was issued to help RV owners discover which Michigan dealers handle and service their make of vehicle should emergencies arise during road trips. The addresses and telephones are listed for 80 Michigan dealers. Each is coded with reference to 14 customer ser-and also toured Williamsburg, Virginia Beach and Washington, D.C.

They're back home again

A 3-weeks vacation was on the agenda this summer for Roger and Diane Ferguson family, their parents, the Fay Fergusons and the Art Shephards; and Bob Ferguson and family. The dozen travelers, who journeyed with three separate camper trailers in tow, had Oelwein, Iowa as their initial target.

It was there that the group attended the Hoppas-Jahncke family reunion and where the Shephardside of the clan renewed old acquaintances and introduced their friends. Verdy Shephard's brother and sister-in-law, Richard and Ivy Jahncke, also made the trip from Montrose, Mich. to reunite with some 150 relatives from Washington, Nebraska and Iowa.

From there the Belleville contingent headed across Iowa and South Dakota to see Mt. Rushmore and then across Wyoming to their ultimate destination — Yellowstone National Park.

The youngsters — Leslie, Shawn and Shari Ferguson and their cousins, Donna and Mike Ferguson — were thrilled by the many bears, moose, elk, buffalo and donkeys they saw enroute and, like their elders, were overwhelmed at the beauty and scope of the mountains.

Also on their itinerary were the Buffalo Bill Museum in Cody, Wyo., Fort Laramie, Scotts Bluff, the Oregon Trail, Hell's Half Acre, the Amana Colonies, the Corn Palace, the Badlands and the Black Hills.

And the weather HAD to be unusually cooperative since the entourage managed to cool and eat three meals a day out of doors without being rained upon. But then there was the other side of the coin — vehicular problems. The group experienced an overheated car, a lost muffler, a rock from a passing truck hitting the radiator, one flat tire and a broken wheel bearing. Other than that, everything proceeded smoothly.

Roger's birthday, which fell during the vacation, was observed when the younger set presented him with a very appropriate plaque which read, "Enter at your own risk; everything is going wrong today." They also performed a little play based on the fun and trials of their trip and one evening held an art show of "originals" they had drawn along the way.

The finale came when the group attended the Ferguson family birthday-reunion party in Detroit where clansmen came in from Texas, Missouri and Michigan. The birthday honoree on that occasion was Mrs. Myrtle Ferguson, the family matriarch, who observed her 90th natal date at the celebration. Mrs. Ferguson, who resides in Missouri, spends each summer in Michigan with her sons and grandchildren.

The Shephards are now playing the role of host and hostess. Art's cousins, Grove and Iva Shephard, are up from Boynton Beach, Fla., and spending several weeks visiting relatives and friends in Michigan, their home state.

Final vows professed

A former resident of Belleville, Patricia Jean Lipinski, has been living in California for the past nine years. In 1969 she entered the Sisters of St. Joseph Convent in Orange and while studying at the convent, worked at St. Joseph's Hospital in Orange where she now is assistant to the chaplain doing pastoral work.

The 1966 graduate of Belleville High School earned her degree in sociology with a minor in psychology at Mount St. Mary's in 1974.

On Aug. 1, during an 11 a.m. celebration, she professed her perpetual vows at the Motherhouse Chapel in Orange with The Rev. R. Mac Namara officiating.

Among those attending the ceremony were Sister Patricia's mother, Mrs. Frank (Adelaide) Lipinski and her brother-in-law and sister, James and Shirley Needham and family, all formerly of Belleville; her brothers, Robert of Los Angeles and Ron of Belleville; two aunts, Mrs. Edward (Cecelia) Lipinski of Dexter and Mrs. Joseph (Helen) Sietz of Belleville, and a cousin, Mrs. Richard (Grace) Sietz and daughter, Whitney, of Trenton.

Local man among contest winners

Ernest Fitzgerald, of Belleville, an independent fashion counselor with Queen's-Way to Fashion, a national direct selling firm featuring fashions and accessories for women, men and children, was among 150 winners in the company's recent Reach for the Stars contest. Fitzgerald competed with 5,500 other Queen's-Way fashion counselors throughout the country who participated in the recruiting contest.

The contest took place from Jan. 1 through May 22, 1976, and prizes were awarded to those people who recruited the most new fashion counselors during the contest period.

Thirty top winners took their choice of family vacation trips to either the east or west coast, while other winners received deluxe merchandise prizes including color television sets, microwave ovens, home movie outfits, freezers and luggage.

On Retirement Planning

How well we enjoy retirement may be related directly to how well we plan for it. Here are a few thoughts to assist you in your planning.

- Determine how much annual income you'll need is a good start. Be realistic.
- Project current assets and income sources now. Calculate your today's net worth.
- Decide whether or not you'll have an "income gap" at your expected retirement age...whether your required income is more than you estimate you'll actually have.
- If there is a "gap," plan how to close it before retirement age.
- Think about what you want to do at retirement. Your 40 hours a week on a job will be past history. With what will you fill these new-found hours?
- Determine where you will live. In your home town? House or apartment? Warm or cold climate?

Careful, thoughtful planning is required for the best possible enjoyment of your retirement years. Some general advice: be useful, make new friends, help others and stay mentally and physically alert. If you'd like more information about retirement, stop in our phone us.

We welcome your questions—in private or publicly, through this column. (A good reference book is: The New Guide to Happy Retirement by G.W. Ware.)

German guest visiting aunt in Belleville

By Mrs. Joseph Spring
699-4021

Wolfgang Klapper, the son of Dr. and Mrs. Hans Klapper of Hohenberg, Germany, is spending several weeks visiting relatives in Michigan. While in Belleville he is a guest of his aunt, Mrs. Jack Kulzer of Liberty Street.

He will also visit a cousin, Mrs.

Heinrich Van Husen of Birmingham. While Wolfgang is in the United States, his sister, Linda, is visiting friends in Dublin, Ireland.

Linda Maki of Quirk Road returned home July 30 after a month's visit with friends, Mr. and Mrs. Mario Campos and family, and her brother, Dale Maki, at Los Angeles, Chile where Dale is serving with the Peace Corps. A friend, Magaly Campos, returned home with Linda for an extended visit.

Mrs. Alex Love and small son, Jason, of Blackwood, N.J. have been guests the past few days of her mother, Mrs. Betty Fulton of Liberty Street.

Mrs. Clayton Saunders of Liberty Street, Marian Irwin of Main Street and Helen Suhr returned home last week from Ontario, Canada where they had attended the Shaw Festival at Niagara on the Lake.

After having spent the past two weeks vacationing at Lewiston, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Kidwell, son Jason, and little daughter, Erin, returned to their home on Ellen Drive.

On Saturday evening, July 31, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Deering of West Columbia Avenue attended the wedding of their granddaughter, Laura Denise Dann, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Dann of Saline, and Melvin Earl Arms of Saline.

The ceremony was performed by the bridegroom's uncle, a Salvation Army Chaplain, in the garden of the bridegroom's sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Steven Milkey's farm home in Manchester.

The reception was held at the American Legion Hall in Saline.

Luncheon guests Friday at the Roland Street home of Mrs. Leon Boldt were her aunts, Mrs. Charles Saffell of Ann Arbor and Mrs. Burton De Wese of Bowling Green, Ohio. The latter remained to spend a few days with the Boldts before turning home to Ohio.

After enjoying a 2-weeks vacation in Key West and other Florida cities, Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Nicholson and daughter, Carolyn, of Rawsonville Road have returned home. Mrs. William Gouger, a sister of Mrs. Nicholson joined them on the trip. Carolyn remained with her sister in Jacksonville where she will attend Beauty College.

Enroute home the Nicholsons stopped at Hendersonville, N.C. where they visited his parents, Mr. and Mrs. E.S. Nicholson, and other relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Clayton of Bedell Street are now home after enjoying a 2-week vacation at Meredith.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Florian spent several days this past week with members of their families at McKeesport, Pa.

Thursday callers at the home of Mrs. Joseph Spring of Liberty Street were her niece, Mrs. James King of Las Cruces, N.M., a great niece, Mrs. Scott Randall of Reston, Va.

On Sunday, August 1, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Florian of Liberty Street entertained at a cook-out for members of the Everett-Marple Club. Present for the occasion were 28 Past Matrons and Past Patrons of the Order of the Eastern Star for the year 1973-1974.

A summer wedding in 1977 is on the calendar for M. Elizabeth Vorich of Ypsilanti and Kent Ray Ferrier of Belleville.

Both 1975 graduates of Belleville High School, the young couple will exchange vows on August 13, the site of the wedding as yet unchosen.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Vorich of 1500 Andrea, Ypsilanti, the bride-elect attended Eastern Michigan University the past year and in the fall will transfer to Michigan Technological University (MTU) at Houghton to study medical technology. At the present time she is employed at Olan Mills Photography Studio.

Her fiance, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Ray Ferrier of 43415 Expressway, Belleville, is a sophomore at MTU where his major is mechanical engineering and where he is employed by WMTU campus radio. He currently is working at the Van Buren Convalescent Center.

Teen advisors for the group are Connie Cook and Eddie Croswell.

The next big project on the club's roster is the annual 4-H Fair set for the week of Aug. 15 in which they will participate.

Maj. Gen. John A. Johnston, adjutant general of the State of Michigan, presents his Award for Excellence to Capt. Gregory J. Maciolek.

Damage from flooding is deductible as loss

Residents who have suffered from recent rain storms can deduct the loss on their federal income tax forms, according to a spokesman for the Internal Revenue Service. R. L. Plate, district director of the federal agency for the State of Michigan, pointed out that losses to personal property are limited to the amount above $100. For tax purposes, a casualty is defined as the complete or partial destruction of property resulting from an identifiable event of a "sudden, unexpected, or unusual" nature, Plate said. Such losses include damages caused by flooding. However, taxpayers are required to be able to prove that they actually sustained a casualty loss.

To help establish the amount of the loss, the taxpayer should compile a list of items lost or damaged, showing cost or other basis, the value before the loss was sustained and the value after the loss immediately occurred. Before and after photos of the item will be helpful in showing the extent of damage, Plate added.

"In computing the amount of the loss, the amount of insurance or other compensation received to offset the loss, including the value of repairs and cleanup provided without cost, must be deducted from the gross amount," he continued.

Taxpayers needing more information can get a free copy of IRS Publication No. 157, "Tax Information on Disasters, Casualty Losses and Thefts", from the local IRS.

Another publication available from the IRS office is a "Workbook for Determining Your Disaster Loss", Publication No. 584, designed to help residents determine the loss.

Either of the two publications or further information can be obtained by calling IRS toll free. The telephone number in the suburbs is 800-482-9650.

pilot training. He was named a distinguished graduate after completing the latter training class. The aircrew training officer for the 171st Fighter Interceptor Squadron, he is responsible for both flying and ground training requirements of all squadron group and attached pilots.

An instructor pilot of the F-106 plane, Capt. Maciolek has completed the SAGE console portion for his Master of Air Defense rating. When he completes the rating he will be the first Air National Guard pilot to finish all skill ratings in the F-106. Capt. Maciolek is married and the father of two children. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James Maciolek of Detroit.

Kelsey-Hayes V-P gains Michigan Tech medallion

The vice-president of power consolidation at Kelsey-Hayes Co. of Romulus was presented with the Board of Control Silver Medal of Michigan Technological University.

James R. Lizenby of Birmingham received the award last week in recognition of his prominent leadership, significant achievements and service rendered to his profession and to society as an alumnus of the Upper Peninsula University.

Lizenby graduated from Michigan Tech in 1953 with a bachelor of science degree in metallurgical engineering. He earned his master of science degree in business administration from the University of Michigan and his master of arts degree in economics from the University of Detroit.

Lizenby joined Kelsey-Hayes in 1966 after stints with Chrysler Corp.'s Amplex Division, Vickers Inc. of Detroit, Woodall Industries Inc. and Sheller Manufacturing Corp. of Detroit.

He is a member of the American Society of Metallurgists, National Industrial Conference Board, American Institute of Management, National Association of Accountants and Institute of Management Science.

Needs indirect light

Calathea: Good for terrariums

Calathea species belong to the same plant family as the familiar prayer plants (Maranta species). They have long, broad leaves with veins running diagonally from the main rib to the outer edges. The leaves usually are tiger-striped parallel to the veins.

A need for high humidity and warm temperatures make Calatheas good terrarium plants.

They require at least 50 percent relative humidity, and ideal temperatures are 80-85 degrees during the day and a minimum of 62-65 degrees at night.

Horticulturists recommend potting Calathea in a humus soil mix made of equal parts loam, sand, peat and leaf mold. Keep the soil evenly moist but not soaking wet. Set the pot near a sunny window where the plant will get a fair amount of indirect light.

Feed established plants every two weeks except during late fall and early winter.

Propagate by dividing roots at repotting time in the spring.

Scorched leaf edges may mean the soil is too dry, the humidity is too low or the plant is getting direct sun. Brown leaf tips usually are a sign of low humidity.

Tin Lizzie gets 'it' together for diners

It's been 15 weeks since Nickerson's Tin Lizzie opened its doors in Van Buren Township, and the parent company—Nickerson and Nickerson Inc.—apparently made the right decision in "getting it altogether" for the residents of the Belleville area, a spokesman said.

According to Lee W. Schaefer, head of the company, the goal of the Tin Lizzie was to give the public what they wanted and enough extras to cater to every taste, time schedule and budget.

Privacy and a feeling of warmth were given top priority, he added, saying that those two items are reflected in deep earth tones, a double-sided fieldstone fireplace and booths with full partitions.

The biggest attraction at the restaurant is the "Tin Lizzie", brought from Oklahoma after being restored and converted into a salad bar.

Even the menu items have true Model T names, such as the "Rumble Seat", featuring chicken, fries, cole slaw and a loaf of hot homemade bread, and the "Headliner", a "man-sized cut" of choice prime rib served with the customer's choice of potato, a loaf of hot homemade bread and a visit to the Tin Lizzie salad bar, where "all you can eat" is the motto, Schaefer said.

In addition to a full line of steaks, seafood and other American favorites, the dinner menu includes a "special" Monday through Saturday. All dinner items are served from 5 p.m. to 12 a.m.

The Tin Lizzie also offers a buffet stocked with specially prepared entries, salads, vegetables and desserts offered from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. and from 5 to 7 p.m.

For smaller-sized appetites, the restaurant serves child-sized dinners for youngsters under 10 years of age.

All menu items featured in the dining room and the adjacent 24-hour coffee shop can be packaged for carry-out service, Schaefer said.

For those who enjoy cocktails, the eatery has a special "Attitude Adjustment Hour" from 3 to 5 p.m. daily except Sunday.

For those with a special party coming up, manager Mike Godfredson suggests making reservations early for the private banquet facility. Working with Godfredson at the Tin Lizzie is assistant managers Ron Suchy, Chuck Peterson and Tom Schwab.

DSO to offer Cobo cabaret

The Detroit Symphony Orchestra (DSO) will offer three different musical evenings in Cobo Hall's Riverview Ballroom on Aug. 17-19

when the DSO principal pops conductor Richard Rayman mounts the podium for "Cabaret at Cobo".

The series, which will highlight the talents of two young Detroit musicians, is designed to raise funds for the Detroit Symphony Orchestra's youth series concerts. Those programs were left without support earlier this summer when the DSO was omitted from the City of Detroit's budget for the first time since the orchestra was re-established in 1951. The DSO hopes to recover some of that loss through the late summer Cobo series.

The DSO youth programs include the Young People's Concert Series, Educational Concert Series, In-School Concert Series and Detroit Symphony Youth Orchestra, a total of some 60 concerts a year for about 100,000 youngsters.

Two young soloists will be featured during the Cobo series. Both are members of the Detroit Symphony Youth Orchestra.

Violinist Susan Synnestvedt, 13, will perform the Mendelssohn Violin Concerto on Aug. 18 and pianist Kenneth Kelter, 16, will play Mendelssohn's Piano Concerto No. 1 Aug. 19.

All three evenings of music have been designed by Hayman to follow the time-honored pops format of blending light classics, popular tunes and several pops extras.

Tables seating four persons will help provide an intimate cabaret atmosphere at the concerts, and drinks and refreshments will be available to purchase.

Tickets which cost $24 and $20 per table, with $4 tax deductible as a donation to the DSO youth programs, are available at the Ford Auditorium box office or by calling 961-0700.

Belleville resident Mark Memering came up as the high point boy rider in the 9-12 years category at the recent 18th International Pony of the Americas Show. The son of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Memering of Belleville, he took part in the competition held July 7-11. His brother, Bobby, was third runner-up in the 13-18 age group for high point rider.

Meteor showers feature Perseids

August evenings will be enlivened by the Perseids, the most conspicuous and dependable of the annual meteor showers, according to University of Michigan astronomer Hazel M. Losh, who went on to say that while "shooting stars" will be blazing across the night skies for two or three weeks, the peak period will be through tomorrow.

"During the peak period as many as one falling star per minute may be observed," she said. "A flashing Perseid meteor appearing as bright as the North Star is possibly no bigger than the head of a pin or a grain of sand."

The professor explained that shooting stars are really tiny bits of iron and stones that enter the earth's atmosphere at high speeds. The enormous heat generated by the friction of the contact turns the particles into brilliant flares, she added.

"The best time to look for Perseids is after night, when we are riding on the forward side of the globe and thus are meeting the particles head on," Prof. Losh said.

The Perseids are so named because they appear to emanate from the northeast in the constellation of Perseus. The meteors seem to fly in all directions from that radiant point, she said. And because of a greater relative velocity, the meteors encountered in the morning hours are likely to brighter and bluer.

Basement flooding: A hazard

The recent rainstorm which flooded many communities in the Detroit metropolitan area has resulted in a deluge of calls to the Wayne County Health Department from concerned residents with water in their basements.

According to Michael Andrews, assistant director of Environmental Health at the department, a flooded basement may create both serious health and safety hazards.

"People should be especially concerned about diseases-causing bacterial contamination from backed up sewage as well as taking extreme precautionary steps to protect themselves from being electrocuted," Andrews said.

He added that the following precautions should be taken after any type of flooding:

(1) Do not handle any connected electrical cords or appliances while standing in water or on a wet floor until all power has been shut off. Call the electrical utility service department for assistance before attempting to disconnect cords or open the fuse box in a flooded basement.

(2) While the basement still is flooded, avoid flushing toilets or using other water connected appliances or fixtures whose discharge would increase the hazard or make the basement more difficult to clean.

(3) After cleaning the basement a homeowner should make certain that all clothing and parts of the body which came in contact with the sewage are thoroughly washed.

Prevent the tracking of sewage into the living quarters of the house. Do not allow children to enter the basement until after the floors and walls have been washed, disinfected and dried.

(4) Discard any contaminated food and vegetables into tightly covered, vermin-proof receptacles. Food holders such as sacks, cardboard boxes or open containers of any kind should be considered contaminated.

Canned goods in sealed cans can be safely kept, provided the containers are thoroughly washed and brushed in hot water and detergent and then rinsed in a chlorine disinfecting solution of a half cup of household laundry bleach to each gallon of water.

(5) Clothing, carpets, upholstered furniture, toys, bedding and similar items should be discarded unless they are cleaned and disinfected.

Discarded clothing should not be left accessible to unauthorized scavengers pending pickup. Stores with flood-damaged merchandise are required to obtain clearance from the health department before offering any such goods for sale.

(6) After the sewage has receded, flush the floors and walls with water from a hose, then wash with detergent and hot water. Keep the hose stream away from electrical equipment or wiring unless it is completely disconnected.

Disinfect the floors and walls as high as they were wet using a chlorine solution. Household laundry bleach diluted in water is a satisfactory and inexpensive disinfectant. Do not mix chlorine bleach with ammonia. This combination produces a poisonous gas.

Ventilate the basement thoroughly to assist drying. The disinfection solution will aid in deodorizing the basement.

Construction hits $1,000,000 mark

The Romulus Building Department reports a $1 million month of building for July.

During the past month, the department took in permits for construction totaling $1.3 million in value, including $422,000 for residential buildings and better than $80,000 for industrial and commercial structures.

He joins cast

A Romulus resident has been chosen for the cast of the summer production of Eugene O'Neill's "A Moon for the Misbegotten" at Western Michigan University.

He is Stephen Kertesz, a graduate student at W.M.U., who will be portraying the role of T. Stedman Harder.

Kertesz has appeared in several other university productions including "Moonchildren", "Children's Experimental Theater IX" and "Five Finger Exercise".

Included in the totals is $700,000 in construction of the new Pine Engineering Warehouse on Middlebelt Road near Smith Road in the city.

Also included is $73,000 in construction of a warehouse at Ecorse between Middle Belt and Merriman roads and $25,000 for a self-service gasoline station on Van Born and Wayne roads.

The totals also include an addition to the warehouse owned by Samuel A. Moses on Metroplex Drive in Romulus, totaling $17,900 in construction.

Ten new single family homes for a value of $299,000 were constructed and 34 additions and alterations were included for a total cost of $124,000.

The figures released by the Building Department are a nearly $1 million increase over the July 1975 construction figures. In July 1975, the department showed a total estimated "worth" of construction of $344,000.

(2) While the basement still is flooded, avoid flushing toilets or using other water connected appliances or fixtures whose discharge would increase the hazard or make the basement more difficult to clean.

(3) After cleaning the basement a homeowner should make certain that all clothing and parts of the body which came in contact with the sewage are thoroughly washed.

Prevent the tracking of sewage into the living quarters of the house. Do not allow children to enter the basement until after the floors and walls have been washed, disinfected and dried.

(4) Discard any contaminated food and vegetables into tightly covered, vermin-proof receptacles. Food holders such as sacks, cardboard boxes or open containers of any kind should be considered contaminated.

Canned goods in sealed cans can be safely kept, provided the containers are thoroughly washed and brushed in hot water and detergent and then rinsed in a chlorine disinfecting solution of a half cup of household laundry bleach to each gallon of water.

(5) Clothing, carpets, upholstered furniture, toys, bedding and similar items should be discarded unless they are cleaned and disinfected.

Discarded clothing should not be left accessible to unauthorized scavengers pending pickup. Stores with flood-damaged merchandise are required to obtain clearance from the health department before offering any such goods for sale.

(6) After the sewage has receded, flush the floors and walls with water from a hose, then wash with detergent and hot water. Keep the hose stream away from electrical equipment or wiring unless it is completely disconnected.

Disinfect the floors and walls as high as they were wet using a chlorine solution. Household laundry bleach diluted in water is a satisfactory and inexpensive disinfectant. Do not mix chlorine bleach with ammonia. This combination produces a poisonous gas.

Ventilate the basement thoroughly to assist drying. The disinfection solution will aid in deodorizing the basement.

Paddling through west Michigan

Village, wildlife refuge draw canoeists

Covered bridges, paddlewheel showboats, a restored village and state wildlife refuges are featured attractions along West Michigan's Grand, Thornapple, Flat and Maple rivers.

The Grand River—famous for showboats—is ideal for experienced paddlers who can compete with powerboaters and also is excellent for riverside trips by car.

The Thornapple features historic attractions, the Flat boasts two covered bridges and the Maple passes through a large state game area. These tributaries of the Grand River have stretches for novice canoeists seeking short trips, but still provide 2- to 3-day journeys for the hardy.

The Grand, Michigan's longest river, is noted for its outstanding scenery between Lansing and Lake Michigan. In west Michigan, the river is bordered by high bluffs, wooded areas and greenery from Portland to Grand Haven.

Motorists wishing to follow the river by car can take M-21—the Blue Water Road—from Muir to Ada and also pass through the riverside towns of Ionia and Lowell.

Canoeists traveling the Grand River will portage many dams, including the Portland, Webber, Waggar and Lyons in Ionia County. The many dams in Grand Rapids make ground transportation from North Park to Grandville advisable.

Canoeists traveling the Grand River will portage several dams, including the Portland, Webber, Wagner and Lyons...

Further west, Lowell attracts thousands to its showboat extravaganza each July. The boat is docked year-round by the town's amphitheater.

For a ride on a paddlewheel riverboat, stop at Grand Rapids' North Park Street where the Grand River Queen departs on 2-hour cruises. Tuesday through Sunday afternoon excursions include a narrated history and Friday through Sunday evening cruises offer Dixieland band entertainment.

Of special interest in the heart of Grand Rapids is a unique sculptured fish ladder at the Sixth Street Dam where the public can "salmon watch" in the fall.

From Grandville to Lake Michigan, the river is especially suited for motorboating. There are many boat clubs and marinas near the resort community of Grand Haven.

For a 2-day canoeing trip on the Thornapple River through gentle farm country to the Grand River at Ada, put in at M-66. Portaging is necessary at six dams along that 47-mile length and the one at Cascade requires a half-mile carry. There are private campgrounds at Middleville and Irving, and canoeists can picnic at several riverfront parks along the way or on islands that dot the river.

Two parks along the Thornapple feature historical attractions. Leonard Field Park in Ada features one of Michigan's four remaining covered bridges, dating back to 1867 and open only to pedestrians since 1939.

Charlton Park is midway between Hastings and Nashville, featuring a restored mid-1800s agricultural village. It contains a historical museum, blacksmith shop, carpenter-cooper shop and stage coach inn.

Mike Hawthorn's Canoe Livery in Hastings offers short trips with easy paddling. The most popular trips for beginners include a stop at Charlton Park for a picnic, swim and sightseeing.

For anglers, Thornapple Lake and the stream below the lake have plenty of smallmouth bass, pike, muskies and some trout.

Greenville is the starting point for a 2½-day trip down the Flat to the Grand River at Lowell. Greenville's Flat River Museum explains local history and the town's Danish heritage. The annual Danish Festival with parades, music, dancing and Hans Christian Andersen plays is slated Aug. 21-22.

The canoe livery at the Double R Ranch in Smyrna offers a 6- to 8-hour canoe trip from Greenville to the ranch and a 2-hour trip from Belding to Smyrna.

To see the two covered bridges spanning the Flat River, begin canoeing five miles south of Smyrna below White's Bridge dam. The first covered bridge is below the dam, dates to 1867 and still carries vehicular traffic.

A few miles downstream is Fallsbury Covered Bridge and County Park, ideal for picnicking. The remainder of the Flat River runs through Lowell State Game area.

The Maple, which meets the Grand River at Muir, also offers wilderness canoeing. With US-27 the suggested starting point, nearly 30 miles of the 40-mile canoe route passes through the Maple River State Game Area. Camping is not permitted in the game area, but a private campground is located at Cook's Landing near Matherton.

Fallen trees may cause problems in the Maple Rapids area. Check the water level of this stream before canoeing in mid-summer.

For detailed canoe maps of the four rivers, write the Michigan Grand River Watershed Council, 3322 W. Michigan Avenue, Lansing 48917.

Ride a bike....
Conserve energy!

Nancy Dickerson, prominent national correspondent, reports for Detroit Edison:

"Here are some air-conditioning tips that will keep you from getting hot under the collar this summer!"

Detroit Edison is a concerned participant in America's crusade for conservation. The wise use of energy plays one of the most important roles in that effort. But it requires a working partnership between those who supply energy and those who use it. Here are some ways you can help conserve energy and save yourself some money the rest of this summer.

You can dial up and hold your costs down.

Don't overcool your home. That's a wasteful use of energy. And expensive. For the most comfort and the most efficiency, set your thermostat no lower than about 10 degrees below the outside temperature. If it's 85 degrees outside, then set your thermostat at about 75 degrees. Otherwise your air conditioner has to work extra hard and your costs go up and up. In a typical house, you can save about 5 percent in operating costs for every degree you move the thermostat up. So, if your house is going to be empty for a few hours, move your thermostat up 5 more degrees and pocket the savings.

Staying comfortable this summer can be a breeze.

When the sun beats down, the heat in your attic builds up and it can be like living under an oven. An attic exhaust fan will get the hot air out and let the cooler night air in, and take the strain off your air conditioner. Good attic insulation works wonders at keeping your home cooler in summer and it will pay off again by saving on heating costs next winter. And don't forget light-colored shingles reflect heat. Whatever you do to keep heat out of your house saves money in air conditioning. Window fans work, too.

Shades of the past.

Before you had air conditioning, there were things you did to keep comfortable, like pulling down the window shades and closing the draperies on the sunny side of the house. That's smart. Because a bare window lets in as much as 35 times more heat than an insulated wall.

So do the same now and you can reduce your air-conditioning costs by as much as 12 percent. Shade your windows from the outside with ventilated awnings or trees and save even more—up to 22 percent of your air-conditioning operating costs.

| 115 | 60 | 1 |
| COOLING BTU/Hr | AMPS | WATTS |
| 6400 | 7.5 | 800 |

You can figure this out yourself. Just divide the BTU number by the number of watts. For example, a unit that delivers 6400 BTU's with 800 watts has an EER rating of 8. (800 goes into 6400 8 times.) The recommended EER number for any air conditioner is 8 or more. You may pay a little more, but you'll save on energy costs in the long run.

Detroit Edison has a folder, "How to stretch your air-conditioning operating dollar." Pick one up at any customer office and start saving, or write to:

Sporting fun

Mr. Ski-Doo, a popular winter sports character, joined several Romulus residents at a recent meeting of the snowmobile manufacturing firm's dealers. On hand for the recent unveiling of the 1977 Ski-Doo sleds were Rudy Wengel (from left); Barb Reinhold; Melanie Zilka; Len Zilka, Kerry Zilka of the Huron Sod Farms, Ski-Doo snowmobile dealer of Romulus and Miss Minnesota, Kerri Thorne of White Bear Lake, Minn. The meeting was held in Lansing.

Romulus coed has master's degree

A Romulus student is one of 100 students at Northern Michigan University who received a master's degree during summer commencement ceremonies.

Susan Ptasinski of 13570 Inkster Road, Romulus, was conferred with her degree along with 272 students who were honored during ceremonies Saturday.

Included in the list of students receiving honors were the 100 masters degree recipients, 143 bachelor's degree recipients, 28 associate degree recipients and one educational specialist degree.

Dr. Raymond L. Smith, president of Michigan Technological University delivered the commencement address.

Mahalak to serve on subcommittee

State Rep. Edward E. Mahalak (D-Romulus) has been appointed to the Solid Waste Subcommittee of the Southeast Michigan Council of Governments' (SEMOG) Council on Environmental Strategy.

The appointment, to a one year term, was announced by the council's chairman Conrad L. Mallett.

SEMOG is a voluntary Association of local governments. Its Council on Environmental Strategy is composed of representatives of government, professional and technical persons and citizens concerned with the quality of the environment in Southeastern Michigan.

In making the announcement of the appointment, Mallett said the Solid Waste Subcommittee is expected to become increasingly active.

Mahalak has been a member of the council for a number of years. He has been active in environmental legislation and is the author of public acts which regulate the collection and disposal of solid wastes.

"The disposal of solid wastes is one of the major environmental problems in southeast Michigan," Mahalak said. "It is the purpose of the subcommittee to study the problem and make recommendations to assist local governments to solve the problem with the least possible detrimental effect upon the environment."

Shades of the past.

Before you had air conditioning, there were things you did to keep comfortable, like pulling down the window shades and closing the draperies on the sunny side of the house. That's smart. Because a bare window lets in as much as 35 times more heat than an insulated wall.

Maintain your cool.

If you want your air conditioner to take good care of you, keep it clean. This means changing or washing the air filters often. Also, vacuum the inside coils and keep outside coils free of debris. Clean registers and return ducts regularly on central air-conditioning systems, and keep the cooling drain open for free condensate flow. And don't block air flow with furniture or draperies. Your owner's manual lists other maintenance tips. Follow them and keep cool all summer.

Buying a new air conditioner? Maybe the most important numbers aren't on the price tag.

First of all, it's important that you get the right size unit (BTU's). Your salesman can help on this if you tell him the length and width of the area you want to cool. Another number that's important is the EER number. This stands for Energy Efficiency Rating.

Fall semester enrollment opens at community college

Enrollment for the fall semester at Wayne County Community College (WCCC) opened this week at 17 locations throughout the Detroit metropolitan area.

Registration for the semester will continue through Aug. 21, with classes slated to open on Aug. 26 at 23 instructional centers.

Tuition for students living within

WCCC's service district will pay $14 per credit hour, with an additional $7 fee for registration and $1 fee for student activities.

A wider variety of college transfer programs will be offered this year in the 2-year associate degree and 1-year technical-occupational programs.

Classes will be offered in more than 50 career fields following the opening of the technical training units at the Greenfield and Park Avenue centers.

Now the second largest community college in the state WCCC has 18,000 a student enrollment. It recently was granted full accreditation by the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools.

Western Wayne County residents interested in enrolling at the college today for students with last names beginning with S to Z, Friday for A through B, Monday for C through G and next Wednesday for H through L.

Students may register for any WCCC classes at any one of the following clerents:

— Greenfield Center, formerly Rosary High School, 85551 Greenfield, Detroit;

— Milton Center, 171 Henry Ruff Road, Inkster;

— Ford High School, 20000 Evergreen, Detroit; and

— John Glenn High School, 36105 Marquette, Westland.

Non-alphabetical registration only for classes offered at the respective centers will be held at:

— Huron High School, 32044 Huron River Drive, New Boston, 6 to 9 p.m. tonight.

— Romulus Senior High School, 9650 Wayne Road, Romulus, 6 to 9 p.m. Aug. 18.

For further information on the programs at WCCC, call 832-1234.

Huron School District set for adult education signups

With fall fast approaching it once again is time to register for Adult Education classes in the Huron School District.

Registration for the fall lineup of courses opened last week at the Adult Education Office of Lincoln High School. Sign up hours are from 1 to 9 p.m. Monday through Thursday and from 12 to 4 p.m. Friday.

Classes are slated to begin Sept. 13 and run from 6:30 to 10 p.m. Monday through Thursday.

The classes are free to those persons, regardless of age, who have not completed high school and currently are not attending a day school program as a full-time student. The fee is $10 for all other interested persons.

The change in that policy is due to alterations in financing at the state level. According to Roger Benner, Community School director: "It still is one of the best bargains around when you consider that the cost to the individual works out to 6 cents an hour for certified instruction and an opportunity to learn new talents and upgrade skills."

Among the classes in the partial listing of courses for the fall are the required high school completion classes such as mathematics, English, and history, as well as typing, electrical wiring, masonry, plumbing, law, health occupations, small engine repair and auto mechanics. Many other classes also are available, Benner said.

If enough persons are interested in a particular class and a qualified instructor can be found, an attempt will be made to offer the course at a center instruction.

For further information on the program call the Adult Education Office at 461-6511.

For credit users

Faust blasts card fees

The state senator who represents the Western Wayne County area has made a move to ward off a possible increase in fees which credit card users are charged.

State Sen. William Faust (D-13th District) has introduced legislation which would prohibit a bank from charging credit card customers a service fee whether they pay their monthly balances on time or not.

The bill was introduced in an effort to ward off a plan instituted by the nation's second largest bank, Citibank of New York, which would force credit card users of that institution to pay a 50-cent per month fee, if the charge card is used that month.

"This service fee amounts to a penalty for those customers who promptly pay their bills," Faust said. "The practice clearly can't be justified."

Such a fee provides no incentive for prompt payment of bills, and in fact, discourages sound budget planning.

The only benefactors from this practice are the banks, which stand to make a windfall profit from conscientious consumers."

Under the system of credit card use in Michigan, card users are not forced to pay a monthly service fee for each month they use a credit card, but can be made to pay up to 18 percent interest per year on the unpaid balance of a credit card debt.

Under the system instituted in New York, the 50-cent fee is tacked on to bills whether the card user pays his balance before the interest is charged to the account or not.

Only cardholders who do not make credit purchases are exempt from the 50-cent per month fee charged by the Citibank of New York.

Goodwill to hold sales

The annual "Back to School" Sale, staged by Goodwill Industries, will be held from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Aug. 26 at the Goodwill Building, 6522 Brush at East Grand Boulevard in Detroit.

The annual event enables residents to purchase fall merchandise, which has been reconditioned, prior to shipment to the regular Goodwill retail stores.

There will be a wide range of clothing for the entire family including coats, dresses, jackets, trousers and shoes, a Goodwill spokesman said. All merchandise offered for sale has been reconditioned by Goodwill's handicapped employees and income received from the sale will help pay the workers' wages, the spokesman added.

Goodwill Industries is a division of League for the Handicapped-Goodwill Industries. The agency is a comprehensive vocational rehabilitation facility, providing evaluation, training, employment and placement services for handicapped men and women in Wayne County.

What is your woe?

Have you been seeing a lot of moths in your lawn lately? This week's Garden Problem of the Day on sod webworms offers some control measures for the problem.

Also on the 24-hour-a-day telephone service will be information on selecting shrubs that require little care, damaging trees with lawn mowers and controlling moss in the lawn.

Call 728-8000 for the recorded message. Tapes are changed every Monday, Wednesday and Friday.

Despite folk story

Apple seeds aren't best source of trees

The home gardener with notions of becoming a modern-day Johnny Appleseed is in for some disappointments. Apples and other fruit trees grown from seed generally aren't of high quality.

Tree fruit specialists said most fruit trees are produced from vegetative plant parts rather than seeds. By grafting buds or twigs of one variety onto the rootstock or limbs of another variety, the nurseryman creates a tree with the best characteristics of both parts. For instance, he can grow full-sized fruit on a miniature tree by combining a standard-sized variety with a dwarfing rootstock.

Vegetative propagation, as the production of plants by budding, grafting and other such methods is called, produces plants identical to the parent plant. Growing fruit trees from seed, on the other hand, usually produces plants that are different than and usually inferior to the parent plant.

This happens because most fruit trees are hybrids, plants produced by crossing two or more different varieties. When the flowers are pollinated and the seeds form, the desirable traits of the parent plants often are lost in the shuffle of genetic material. The resulting offspring may be very unlike its parents.

Genetic changes often are the source of new varieties, the specialists noted. But these "sports," or mutations, usually are the result of changes within a small part of a single tree.

They're brides' flowers

The bride's flower (Stephanotis floribunda) is a twining vine with oblong, shiny, dark green leaves and clusters of tubular, white, highly scented flowers.

Michigan State University horticulturists observe that providing sufficient humidity for Stephanotis usually is the most difficult part of growing it. Humidity of 50 percent or more is required for best growth.

Average house temperatures, with a minimum of 65-68 degrees at night, are sufficient.

Pot Stephanotis in a well-drained, humus soil made of equal parts loam, sand, peat and leaf mold. Keep the soil evenly moist during the growing season. During winter, water just enough to keep the plant from drying out.

Beginning in February, fertilize about once a month through the fall.

Though the flowers are most abundant during June, Stephanotis will bloom most of the year. Short days and low light during winter usually prevent its blossoming then.

Propagation is by 4-inch cuttings taken in spring or early summer.

LLOYD CARR
Heads for EMU

Carr accepts EMU position

By TOM MOORADIAN
Sports Editor

Lloyd Carr, who forged Westland John Glenn into a Northwest Suburban and Class A state football power, has resigned as head coach to accept a coaching position at Eastern Michigan University.

The 31-year-old Carr will join head coach Ed Chlebek's staff at EMU as a defensive backfield coach.

Carr guided Glenn to an 8-1 overall record last year, the best in the school's 12-year history. The Westlanders' lone loss, a 20-13 setback, was to Livonia Franklin. Franklin went on to capture the inaugural Class A state football championship.

"I just want to say that the three years at Glenn were the happiest in my life," Carr noted. "I'm sure that John Glenn will remain a football power in the years to come."

Carr's three-year record at the Westland-based high school is 15-10. Raised in the downriver community of Riverview, Carr was an all-state quarterback for the Pirates. He went on to the University of Missouri where he engineered an upset against Florida in the 1966 Sugar Bowl game.

Carr was a free agent with the then three-time World Championship Green Bay Packers in 1967.

Leaving the pro ranks because of an injury, Carr joined Coach Keith Emerson's staff at Belleville High where he was an assistant coach. He served in that capacity for three years until he was offered the head coaching job at Glenn three years ago.

"It's very difficult for me to leave Glenn because the community, administration and kids have been so great," Carr said. "All supported the football program and whenever you have that kind of situation, well it's tough to leave."

"But coaching on a college level is something I have always aspired to and Chlebek is not only an outstanding football coach but a fine person."

Carr pointed out that he will be working to recruit the Northwest Suburban Conference, "to get the top players out of the area."

"We feel that EMU's success will depend upon getting top quality players from this area, so we will be watching a lot of games."

Replacing Carr as Glenn's top grid mentor will be Jerry Lutrie, an assistant coach.

"I don't think that Glenn will suffer during the transition," said Carr. "The coaching staff, with the obvious exception of myself, has not been changed."

"Glenn's going to be tough," he added. "Believe me."

Westside captures Wayne Class A title

With the regular season championship stashed away, three teams — Westside Dompolski, Fiddle Bar and the Knights of Columbus — will shoot for playoff titles in Wayne this week.

Westside emerged from a close race in Wayne's Class A League with a 16-5 record, edging runner-up Spicer Carpentry for top honors. Spicer was second (15-6) while Carpentry Lounge wound up third in the league (14-7).

Meanwhile, Fiddle Bar clinched the Class B crown thanks to a 13-2 won-lost record. Deadlocked for second were All-Star and Michigan Bell, each with 10-5 marks.

Canton All-Stars split doubleheader

The Canton All-Stars split a doubleheader with the reigning league champions as McMurray Insurance, the A-Division titlist, overwhelmed the Stars 21-2 while the B-Division winner, Little Caesar's, fell 13-9.

Little Caesar's couldn't handle the "B" All-Stars, managed by Bill Grady of Clark Block.

Ron Stepek, manager of Meijer Thrifty Acres, pitched and batted the All-Stars to the victory. Stepek had four hits in four trips, including a 3-run homer, and four RBI's, making him easily the most valuable player of the game.

Little Caesar's jumped out in front 3-1 in the first inning on four straight singles by Gary Truskowski, Jim Gatti, John Raimer, and Steve Trahey.

But the All-Stars picked up three of their own in the second to go ahead to stay. Harry Till and Brad Truax, both of Strock Insurance, reached base on a single and an error, respectively.

Larry Brown of Goods' Nursery legged out a single, and Bob Shaw of Star Furniture drove in 2 runs with a single.

In the third inning, Russ Scott of Over in Class C, the Knights of Columbus beat out NBA Lab for the title. The reigning champ had a 12-2 record as compared to the second place Lab's 11-3.

The top four teams in each league are eligible to play in the post-season tournament. The playoff championship has a double-elimination format.

Already settled, the Over-the-Hill playoffs saw Civitan defeat Eloise in the first game and in the championship matchup, Civitan proved too much for Ernie's Collision and won the playoff title.

In its season's finale, Dompolski wasted little time with Burghuff's, leaped to a 9-0 lead after two innings and went on to a 17-11 victory. Winning pitcher Andy Kinunen helped his cause with a pair of doubles and two runs batted in.

Kinunen received ample support at the plate as his mates who pounded out 20 hits off of the two Burghuff pitchers, Bill Weston and Dennis Colligan.

Dave Reis homered and singled, Dennis Deputa rapped three singles while Bob Briggs sliced four hits, including a double and drove home three runs. Andy's brother, Ron counted four singles and three RBI's.

Mike Burton drilled a fifth inning homer for the losers who also received three hits from Mike Plagens and a pair of singles from Bob Jaskowski.

In other Class A action, Spicer's won a 22-14 slugfest from Capraro's which rallied from a 15-2 deficit in the second inning to score seven runs in the bottom of that inning. However, Spicer exploded for five runs in the third and didn't encounter any opposition in the stretch.

John Patterson missed hitting for "the cycle" for Spicers as he latched on to a single, double and home run, good for two RBI's. Teammate Don Twitchell compiled five hits and three RBI's while Ed Zucal and Charlie Pierson split six hits and six RBI's between them.

Harry Allen, the winning pitcher, also was hit hard — for 17 hits. Cal Glomski got four of those, including a homer, double and a pair of singles while Dave Broad, Jerry Nastally and Pete Ostrowski also homered.

Capraro's used two pitchers, Lee Callaway who worked the first three innings, and reliever Joe Pilisko who finished up.

Mid-Sibley scored one run in the top of the eighth to edge Town & Country 11-10 in an extra inning affair. Winning pitcher Doug Brown gave up 18 hits, including three each to Frank Shaffer and Ron Valek who also homered.

Nelson Vanderburg belted a homer and single for the losers.

Bob Kost was the loser. He was tagged for 15 hits, including a homer by Mark Felice. Teammate Tom Markowski turned in with three hits.

Westside broke open a close 5-4 game with five runs in the top of the seventh to win a 10-4 decision from Garden City. Tied at 3-all going into the sixth, Westside scored what proved to be the tying and go-ahead run in the sixth as Don Deputa homered. Bob Briggs and Dennis Frinrock checked in with two hits apiece.

To all ADs:
please mail
schedules

With fall closing in on the summer sports scene ever so quickly, it's time to remind high school athletic directors in the area to mail out their football, cross country and golf schedules.

If a new coach has been hired to handle a fall sport, please include his — or hers — home telephone number.

Coaches also may contact The Associated Newspapers' Sports Desk on Sunday at 729-4000 from 9 a.m. until 5 p.m.

The Ocelots

Undefeated in 14 games this year, the Ocelots captured the Westland Youth Athletic Association Senior Girls Slow-Pitch Softball Championship. And one of the reasons was the superb pitching performances turned in by Lynn Lietz who received credit for all 14 wins, including five shutouts. Members of the championship team include:

Wayne, which had one of its largest contingents in recent years at the City Championship Golf Tournament, saw a hotly contested duel for second flight honors. Jim Lentine (at left) settled the first place issue when he beat John Riddle (center) in a "sudden death playoff". Both carded 184 scores for 36 holes at Fellows Creek. Robert Shirlin wound up with the third place trophy in that flight.

Pedagogues blow 10-run lead, lose

The Pedagogues are beginning to wonder what they have to do to win a game in the Westland Parks and Recreation Minor Red Division.

Injury leads to forfeit

For three innings Glass Crutch Lounge gave Kevin's Lounge all it could handle in the Westland Parks and Recreation's Men's Major Softball League.

But, in the forth, Fate stepped in and Glass Crutch bowed out. One of the loungemen, John Fisher, was injured and when Glass Crutch couldn't come up with reinforcements the game was awarded on a forfeit to Kevin's.

Up to that point it was anyone's ball game. Kevin's put three runs on the board in the first inning, but the losers answered with two of their own in that inning. Glass Crutch produced two runs. Rick Abbott also checked in with four hits.

Four players — Vic Koos, Dan Inman, Tom Buckalew and Nally — all had three hits. One of Buckalew's hits was a two-run homer.

George Smith Realty blew a 3-1 first inning lead and was defeated 8-4 at the hands of Joe Thomas.

Ken Beal, the winning pitcher, tossed a nine-hitter and one of those was a two-run homer by Carl Glaser.

Smith's received two hits from Jeff Gillespie, Steve Kaufman and Glaser while Gary Tilson's triple produced two RBI's.

Moe Fitzgerald accounted for three of the winner's hits and Curt Straub drove home two runs with a double and Benny Mogard picked up a single and double for the winners.

Les Warden, the losing pitcher, was tagged for 12 hits.

Smith's bounced back and dumped the Troubleshooters 5-2 as Paul Schnarr twirled a nine-hitter. Schnarr had his problems with Pat Price and Leonard Gagnon who collected four of the loser's nine hits.

In the only other Red Division game, Wayne County leaped to a 9-3 edge and went on to close the door on Red Door Lounge 16-7.

Calvin Sailer was tagged for 15 hits, but survived to chalk up the victory. Ed Rasmussen accounted for four of the Red Door hits while Mike Minch belted a pair of doubles and a single, going three for four on the day.

Skip Johnson pounded out a couple of triples and two singles off of losing hurler Rasmussen who delivered 17 hits. Jim Blakeley also got to him for three hits and two RBI's.

Red Door's Karl Kuban launched a seventh inning rally with a three-run-homer, but the rally fizzled when Sailer got the next two batters on easy outs.

Studio grabbed a 1-0 top of the first inning lead, but Kevin's came back with two runs in that frame to go ahead. But Studio rallied for three runs in the next frame and enjoyed a 4-2 advantage before Kevin's cut into the lead with a run in the third and tied it up in the sixth, forcing the issue into extra innings.

Jim Kholman's three singles produced two RBI's for Kevin and teammate Dennis Finkrock belted a single and double.

Goodlow, the winning pitcher gave up a total of 14 hits, two each to Dennis Deedler, Rich Deedler, Ernie Albergast and Ken Jones.

Losing hurler Dave Pallister was tagged for 20 hits, three of those going the distance.

Kevin's stunned Studio Lounge 5-4 as the winners broke a four-all deadlock in the bottom of the eighth to win it.

Studio grabbed a 1-0 top of the first inning lead, but Kevin's came back with two runs in that frame to go ahead. But Studio rallied for three runs in the next frame and enjoyed a 4-2 advantage before Kevin's cut into the lead with a run in the third and tied it up in the sixth, forcing the issue into extra innings.

Jim Kholman's three singles produced two RBI's for Kevin and teammate Dennis Finkrock belted a single and double.

Belleville golfer gets hole-in-one

For the third time in his 30-year golfing career, Belleville's Bob Horste shot a coveted hole-in-one.

Horste's latest ace came in the Western Wayne Golf League at Godwin Glen where the 51-year-old golfer sank a 155-yarder, No. 3 hole, using a 7 iron.

Touring the course with Horste were brothers Richard and Buddy and nephew Tim. Bob finished the round with a 78, six over par.

Wayne crowns B champ

Winning two of its last three games, Fiddle Bar captured the 1976 Wayne Parks and Recreation Class B Softball title.

The reigning league champs sandwiched a close 9-7 victory over J & D Dietrich and a 16-8 win over Four Seasons between a 12-1 loss to the All-Stars.

The Class B champs helped in their own demise to the All-Stars by committing six errors. They also were the victims of a flawless All-Star defense which came up with

Fletcher chalks up shutout

Marie Fletcher tossed a three-hitter as Johnny's Shell posted a rare shutout over Hudson's of Westland in a Westland Women's Softball League game last week.

Johnny's scored three times in the first inning, picked up a run in the fourth then added three more in the seventh en route to an easy 7-0 victory.

Losing pitcher Elaine Golden severed up 11 hits, three to Brenda Bennett who knocked in two runs with three hits, including a triple. Teammate Joy Napolitano also collected two hits, both singles.

Johnny's fourth inning run came on a solo homer by Pam Limeran.

Two of the three Hudson's hits were by Audrey Bennett who had a perfect two for two at the plate.

In other league action, Lynn's Country Bar parlayed a 23-hit assault on losing pitcher Cindy Kos into an easy 17-6 victory over Wayne County General Hospital.

Wayne County gave the winners a scare as it scored six times in the top of the second to take a lead, however, Lynn came back with three runs in that inning then scored eight times in the following frame to run away with the decision.

Evon Barnett had a perfect three for three day and Janice Spencer latched on to a single and double for the losers who compiled 13 hits off of winner Dawn Lalonde.

Miss Lalonde helped her own cause by chasing home five runs thanks to a perfect three for three at the plate. Her three hits included a homer, double and single. Teammate Sue Chopp also rapped three hits, including a double while Antene Greve finished the day with two singles, in two trips to the plate.

Studio Lounge overpowered Hudson's of Westland 13-4 using a 23-hit attack on loser Elaine Golden. Studio took the lead 5-0 after the first two innings and was never seriously threatened after that frame.

Sharon Winkler drilled a double and homer to score three of Studio's runs while teammate Barb Abdo chalked up three hits, including a double.

Hudson's received a stellar performance at the plate from Miss Golden who counted two of her team's eight hits. Terry Sherman knocked in two runs with her only hit, a double.

Town & Country Dodge dumped the Inmates 18-4, breaking open a 3-2 game in the second with three runs. The winners had two four run innings - the third and seventh.

Sue Sawle and Ginny Peters split eight hits - all singles and Gayle Landrum blasted a homer and picked up three singles for the winners.

Kathy Katalinic, the winning pitcher, gave up eight hits, two to Joyce Dupont who singled and tripled.

Arlene Bozyk was the losing pitcher, the victim of the 29-hit Town & Country hitting assault.

In the only other game, Midas Muffler turned in a superb defensive effort as it turned back Johnny Shell 2-0. Midas scored in the opening inning and put its insurance run on the boards in the fourth.

Winning pitcher Madeline Tracht threw a four-hitter while Marie Fletcher and Shery Shaffer combined on a sevenhit pitching performance for the losers.

three double plays.

Losing pitcher Terry Doughty, who was tagged for 11 hits, gave up two hits each to Keith Drake, Paul Lambert, Gerry Wood and Terry Magnuson.

Fiddle Bar averted the shutout in the third inning when they scored one run. Winning pitcher John Auer was tough all day as he scattered six singles — one each to Al Campbell, Mark Pajot, Terry Aubrecht, Ron Dango, Steve Reitz and to Doughty.

Fiddle Bar rallied for three runs in the bottom of the sixth to pull out a close 9-7 win over J & D. The game, tied twice at 4-all and 5-all, tilted toward the losers in the fifth when they scored two runs.

Fiddle Bar chalked up the victory, serving up 12 hits, two each to Mark Martin, Tim Wieracek and Mark McGill. J & D's Bob Hobbs had a two-run homer.

Gerry Chesney's triple and two singles paced the winners. Teammates Roger Cowell, Pajot, Jim Schewe and Dargo each checked in with two-hits.

Four Seasons was no match for the champs as it succumbed 16-8. The champs scored in every inning but needed a four-run outburst in the fourth to shake loose from a narrow 7-6 lead.

Cowell again got credit for the win, twirling a 10-hitter. He was tagged for a couple of singles by Steve Monroe while Ron Pulk singled and doubled and Dwight Klemczak belted a two-run single.

Losing pitcher Bruce McClure had his hands full with Schewe who slashed four singles, good for three RBI's. Al Campbell checked in with three hits as did Chesney who doubled twice to chase home two runs. Jim Hubbs' contribution to the winning cause included a pair of singles and a triple.

In other Class B matchups, J & D scored four runs in the last two innings to pull out a 12-10 victory over Johnson Carbonic.

Elmer Daniels, who stroked a triple and a couple of singles, and counted two RBI's played a key role in the victory. Teammates Jack Kline and Wiencek each had two hits and Rick Waldrop finished the night with a single and triple.

Wiencek, the winning pitcher, gave up a two-run single to Don Wooley and a pair of hits to Jim Baldwin.

Barth Buccianelli was the losing pitcher, the victim of a 13-hit J & D assault.

Unistrut exploded for five runs in the bottom of the fifth to pull out a close 9-6 decision from Johnson's mitts. Johnson, trailing 4-2 going into the fifth, took a 6-4 lead but couldn't hold on.

Buccianelli was charged with the loss. He tossed a 12 hitter, giving up three hits to Russ Barnett, a pair of singles to Pete Watts and a two-run base hit to Mickey Hayden.

Winning hurler Bob Haddell was tagged for 10 hits.

All-Area griddler

at Cornell

Paul Haydon, a senior from Garden City and an All-Area griddler, is among 29 lettermen starting football practice at Cornell University Aug. 26.

Coach George Seifert lists the 6-5, 185-pounder as his No. 1 candidate at the tight end position.

As an alternate starter last year, Paul caught three passes for 47 yards and one touchdown, scoring at Dartmouth on a 16-yard toss.

According to Seifert, Paul's blocking has shown steady improvement during his varsity career. In 1974, as a sophomore, he lettered at tight end.

At Garden City High, he also played basketball.

Dolphins 2nd best in league

A sparkling display of both age and talent depth by the Wayne Recreation Dolphin Swim Club last Thursday, an asset which enabled the Dolphins to capture 65 of a possible 84 place ribbons, powered the Wayne-Westland swimming youngsters to a second place in the final Suburban Six Conference meet and the 1976 conference second-place trophy.

The Dolphins placed two swimmers in 19 of 34 individual events, (this final meet of the 1976 season was an individual struggle with each of the six league teams entering two members in each event with ribbons presented to those finishing one through six).

The strong showing wasn't enough for the Dolphins to overcome a revitalized Riverside Rebel Club, which this season reinforced an already-good lineup with some 25 top-ranked swimmers from surrounding communities.

The Rebels won the final meet, their fourth victory in five league encounters, to finish atop the Suburban Six Conference standings with 33 total points, compared to 27 by Wayne.

Southgate finished a distant third with 19, followed by Crestwood, Allen Park, and Cherry Hill.

Mary Batterson and Eric Head, both 11-year-old Dolphins, paced the Wayne attack each with a first and a second.

Mary scored the first Wayne victory in girls' 11-12 25-yard butterfly. She also took a second to sister Catherine Batterson in the girls' 11-12 25-yard backstroke.

The Batterson girls teamed with Head and Kurt (Korky) Whitehead for a second-place in the 100-yard mixed medley relay.

Head took a first in the boys' 11-12 50-yard breaststroke, and a second in the boys' 50-yard freestyle.

Teri Discher and Sharon Fontaine finished second and third, respectively, in the girls' 13-14 50-yard butterfly, while Miss Fontaine and Gretchen Batterson scored third and fourth-place ribbons in the girls' 13-14 50-yard freestyle.

Jamie Thompson captured a second in the girls' 13-14 50-yard backstroke, and had a third place in the 50-yard breaststroke. Mike Greuber scored the other Wayne second place in the boys' 10-under 25-yard freestyle, along with a third place in the 25-yard butterfly.

Joe Miles and Rick Matheny, close personal friends as well as swimming rivals, finished third and fourth, respectively, in the boys' 15-18 100-yard freestyle.

Another pair of close friends, Karl Staber and Tom Brown, dueled to a fourth and fifth in the open boys' 200-yard individual medley.

Staber and Harold Sleicher finished third and fourth in the boys' 15-18 50-yard backstroke.

Other third-place ribbons went to the mixed 15-18 medley relay team of Tracey Batterson, Brad Rockman, Mike Balwinski and Kelly Batterson; Peter Campbell in the boys' 10-under 25-yard backstroke; Kelly Batterson, girls' 15-18 100-yard freestyle, and Sandy Burns, girls' 11-12 25-yard breaststroke.

More fourth-places went to the mixed 10-under medley relay team of Campbell, Kris Whitehead, Kelly Burnette and Greuber; one each for Kurt (Korky) Whitehead in the 11-12 25-yard butterfly and 50-yard backstroke, Mike Egan, Tracey Batterson, Mike Balwinski, Sandy Baran, Rick Melanshek, Rene Whitson, Rockman, and Catherine Batterson.

Fifth-place ribbons were awarded to the mixed 13-14 medley relay team of Mark Newman, Jamie Thompson, Sharon Fontaine and John Lewandowski, along with individuals Teri Discher, Kelly Burnette, Newman, Lori Miles and Julie Johnston.

Winning sixth places were Lorraine Shafer, one each in the open 200-yard individual medley and girls' 15-18 50-yard butterfly; Kris Balwinski, Lori Miles, Mike Egan, Todd Melanshek, Thelma Kew, Dave Hills, Tracey Batterson, Lori Shenk, Keith Head and Kelly Batterson.

The Dolphins will conclude their season tomorrow morning with the Wayne Recreation Dolphin Junior Olympics at Atwood Pool, followed tomorrow evening by an awards banquet in the Wayne Community Center.

After a six-week layoff, the Dolphin winter program is scheduled to begin. Included in the 1976-77 agenda is participation in a newly formed league along with competition in Amateur Athletic Union invitatorials.

DNR is making a serious mistake by not at least giving consideration to outside suggestions instead of just sluffing them off. At last count, the Department of Natural Resources has something like 3,000 employees working for the people of Michigan. By way of contrast, there are 700,000 deer hunters. Is it possible the only smart people in Michigan are in DNR? Or is good, outside aid being overlooked?

Cards his 1st ace

Michael Forynski's first trip to a golf course in seven years turned out to be an auspicious one.

The 35-year-old Westlander bagged his first hole-in-one, acing the 101-yard 11th hole at Lower Huron Valley Golf Course last Sunday.

"It's the first time I've been on a golf course in about seven years," revealed Forynski who didn't reveal what he took for the round.

Also winners

Though they missed the championship flight cutoff, Chuck Wadowski (from left) Tom Kral and Tom Walls proved to be the top three golfers in Canton's first flight at the City Championship Golf Tournament held last week at Fellows Creek. Wadowski earned top honors in the flight with a two-day total of 169. Kral and Walls posted scores of 186 and 193 respectively to win trophies.

For their trophy room

Curtains fall on Romulus LL

Commercial Carriers, the "Cinderella team" and Polka Dot, always powerful, brought the curtains down on the 1976 Romulus South Senior Baseball League in winning style.

Commercial Carrier, rolled over Baum Funeral Home 19-3 in keeping pace with Polka Dot which defeated Canejo Trucking 20-9.

Romulus South, a member of the Suburban league, is tied for first place in that circuit.

The clincher was a 1-0 decision over Melvindale.

The game featured outstanding play by Don McMann and Jeff Sampson.

McMann, who last week combined with Rick Britz for a No-hitter against Lincoln Park North, fired a one-hitter.

But the spotlight fell on Jeff Sampson, who made a tremendous catch in center field.

Sampson jumped up on the fence to pull a potential home run in his glove.

Manager Merle Kelly said that "...you just saw the white at the tip of his glove. It was fantastic."

A playoff game is in the works to determine the champion for the suburban league. The potential opponent for Romulus South may be Lincoln Park Central, in first place the first half of the season. Suburban divides the season into two sections. The place team of each half plays for the championship.

Romulus South Little League will hold a general meeting on Thurs., Aug. 12 at 7:30 p.m. The meeting is in the Romulus City Hall Community Room.

All parents and interested citizens are welcome to attend. The election of new board members will be held for the 1977 season.

The league also reminds parents and residents that it is sponsoring a fund-raising dance Saturday, August 14, 1976 at the Romulus Progressive Hall. Tickets are $10 each for a couple. Tickets are available from any manager or by calling 941-3868.

Franklin sets gals' physical examination date

All seventh, eighth and ninth grade girls interested in trying out for Franklin Junior High basketball and track teams are to report 1 p.m., Thurs., Aug. 26 at the school.

The eighth and ninth grade girls will be given physical examinations at this time. All seventh grade girls must bring with them the athletic copy of their registration physical or have a physical examination.

Basketball practice will begin Mon., Aug. 30, according to Coach Kevin Schaum. The track team will be handled by Sharon Priestaf who hopes to see between 70 to 90 girls try out for the teams.

The first week of basketball tryouts will consist of practice sessions for two hours each day, from 9 to 11 a.m. and from 1 to 3 p.m.

'Also ran' Massey captures Canton's tournament crown

Leaving a mediocre season behind, Massey Cadillac captured the 1976 version of the Canton Parks and Recreation post-season tournament.

Massey's compiled a 9-7 over-all record in finishing third in the "A" Division, however, that didn't stop it from claiming the playoff crown.

The Canton Recreation Department offered a double-elimination post-season tournament for all its teams except the division champs, to give them another shot at trophies for their efforts the past three months.

Taking advantage of the opportunity, Massey showed it had the stamina to win the tourney by claiming 8 of 9 games in a week.

In their first game, Massey squeaked past K-Mart, a "B" Division team, 14-13. Manager Tom Zircher, known more for his temper than his bat, lashed out four singles, and Mark DeRoche blasted a two-run homer and two doubles, the last one driving in the tying and winning runs.

The next night, Massey was stunned by Star Furniture, another "B" Division team, 10-9.

DeRoche kept his hot bat alive with a repeat performance, a homerun and two doubles, but it wasn't enough as Star picked up three runs in the top of the seventh with round-tripper Bob Slusarski driving in two runs.

Massey came up short in the bottom half with two runs on DeRoche's homer, sending Massey to the loser's bracket.

From then on, Massey had to win seven games in five days, and Star Furniture only had to win three games to take it all.

But Massey proved equal to the task, winning those next seven games, including two wins over Star Furniture, their only loss, at the end, 14-8 and 22-12.

Smith Realty, with a 13-3 won-lost regular season record in the "A" Division, was favored to take the tournament, but was surprisingly ousted in only three games, losing to Perlongo 7-6 and to Plymouth Equipment 6-5.

The tournament began with 12

Tops in first Westland flight

Westland, represented by more than 60 golfers in a field of 133, had a record-field at the annual City Championship Golf Tournament held last weekend at Fellows Creek. Emerging from the Westland first flight battle with trophies were David Teneyak (second from left), Dick Hodges (center) and Bennie Poindexter. Chuck Pickering, (at left) representing the Westland Parks and Recreation Department, presents the first place trophy to Teneyak who shot a 155 for 36 holes. Hodges finished second with 156 while Poindexter was forced into a "sudden death" playoff for third place with R. Crutcher after the two wound up with identical 157's. Poindexter won the playoff on the first hole.

Odd Squad is perfect

Mop up operations begin this week in the Romulus Softball Leagues.

And the Odd Squad, sporting a 10-0 record, is the only team that can finish the 1976 with an unmarred record. They lead the women's softball League East Division.

Over in the West the Young Pioneers have a commanding three-game edge over Baum's (8-4) which is in second place.

Meanwhile, Huron Valley Steel

(16-3) and The Hospital (14-4) are setting the pace in League A and League B, respectively, in the men's divisions.

...think CLASSIFIED

There comes a time when it just doesn't pay to monkey around any longer with the old wheels. Those repair bills are driving you bananas.

While you are waiting for the tow truck, do some positive thinking. Think Classified. There are hundreds of good cars offered for sale in the Want Ads. Think of the convenience of scanning these ads for the model and price that appeal to you. Then you know where to go with a minimum of travel and time.

Classified is the great and unique market place for cars and almost anything else you might be looking for. Such as large and small appliances, other household furnishings, stereos, TVs and radios, and cycles, bikes and toys.

And who offers all these items for sale? People just like you, of course. That means you very well could have articles to dispose of. Good items you no longer use. Check and find out. Then call a helpful Ad-Visor and watch the Want Ads go to work for you.

Are you a BULL... or a BEAR... or a HOMEOWNER?

Bulls make money when the stock market goes up. Bears make money when the market goes down. Homeowners just enjoy living in their beautiful home while the value of their home keeps on increasing.

How many houses can you make that can double your money? The median price for an existing home was $18,760 in 1966. In February 1976 the median price for an existing home was $34,200.

Home ownership is a pretty picture. There are of course, many more advantages to home ownership than merely making a profit. There is security, contentment, privacy, pride of ownership as well as increasing equity and important tax deductions.

WHOEVER HEARD OF BARBECUEING FRUIT?

Fresh fruits are great eaten "as is" and equally delicious when sliced into a salad, but how many of you have ever barbecued fruit? Here then is my invitation to try this heavenly way to barbecue fresh fruits.

Fresh fruits are great for picnics, to eat out of hand fresh, or in various combinations. Try some of these ideas on your grill:

FRUIT KABOBS—Skewer a variety of fruits like banana chunks, pineapple cubes, strawberries, peach wedges and orange slices. Baste the kabobs with honey and lemon juice and grill them over low coals.

BANANA BOATS—Split unpeeled bananas lengthwise, fill with milk chocolate squares and tiny marshmallows, wrap in foil and grill until filling is melted.

CINNAMON BAKED APPLES—Core apples and fill centers with red cinnamon candies, wrap in foil and grill.

TIPSY GRAPEFRUIT HALVES—Sprinkle brown sugar, kirsch and cinnamon on top, then charcoal until hot.

Wash FRESH PEACHES, cut in half and remove pits. Fill cavity with one teaspoon current or blackberry jelly, sprinkle with cinnamon. Seal each peach half in foil and grill 12 minutes.

Bobbie Kelly will be appearing at the following store: 3584 Fort Street (Emmens), Lincoln Park, Michigan, Thursday, August 12, 1976.
